TRAWLER IN TROUBLE OFF QUEEN CHARLOTTE'S

VANCOUVER (CP)—Search and rescue officials here said at noon the tug La Force was nearing the area where a 36-foot trawler was reported filling with water early today.

The Carol O. reported that she was in trouble in Queen Charlotte Sound, 250 miles northwest of here.

The ship's owner and the only man aboard, Tormod Ostby of Burnaby, reported at 5 a.m. that the wheelhouse of the boat had been swept away in a 55-knot wind and the engine room was half full of water.

No report had been received from the Carol O since that time.

Russ Veto West Plan to Suspend Nuclear Tests

LONDON (UP)—Russia today rejected the new Western proposal for a 10-month suspension of nuclear tests linked to halting atomic and hydrogen bomb production.

It was the first big Soviet "no" to the new American disarmament plan now being debated at the five-power London disarmament conference.

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told the disarmament conference there was no point in linking the test suspensions with nuclear bomb production, a proposal which is one of the West's basic demands.

He reiterated Russia's demand for a two-to-three-year suspension without conditions.

He also rejected western proposals to set experts to work at once on details of an inspection system to enforce the suspension of tests.

Zorin's 90-minute speech followed a radio Moscow broadcast that warned the West against expecting concessions on disarmament as a result of the Kremlin shake-up last week.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd immediately termed Zorin's address "disappointing." U.S. chief delegate Harold E. Stassen, however, told the conference that the speech was too long and important to be dealt with summarily and he wanted more time to study it.

It was not immediately clear, officials said, whether Zorin was flatly rejecting the Western proposal of last week or restating an adamant Russian position.

At any rate, his reiteration of Soviet desire for immediate suspension of tests offered no concession to the West.

When all Malenkov's efforts failed, Zorin said, "I was threatened and accused of every mortal sin."

Everything the central committee said about him and his character was correct from beginning to end, Zorin said. "Malenkov was rude and ruthless, a man without honor and conscience."

Turko charged Malenkov, former foreign minister V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich, former member of the Soviet Union's ruling party presidium, were "intriguers who used the old sectarian methods of dissent in an effort to split the party."

Probe Wheat Charge U.S. Paper Advises

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Washington Post and Times Herald says the United States should be prepared to reduce its tariffs against Canadian imports.

Friday Strike Deadline Set by Civil Servants

Premier Silent After Special Cabinet Session

By PETER MURRAY

A special meeting of the provincial cabinet was held this morning, hard on the heels of threat by provincial civil servants to walk off their jobs at 7 a.m. Friday if their demands for bargaining rights have not been met.

There was no hint what was discussed at the cabinet meeting, which lasted only five minutes.

"I have no comment to make this morning," Premier Bennett said on leaving the meeting.

Other ministers also were non-committal.

There was no indication that the government has decided to soften the firm stand it has taken against the civil servants.

demands, despite the setting of a strike deadline.

The B.C. Government Employees' Association, representing 11,600 of the province's 14,000 civil servants, fixed the strike deadline at a 10-hour executive meeting in Vancouver Sunday.

It is believed the first time any government civil service has set a strike deadline.

Arbitration Now Main Issue

The dispute has boiled down now to one fundamental issue—arbitration.

The association says that the strike will be called off if the government agrees to the creation of a permanent impartial bargaining board.

It would let this board rule on the civil servants' present demand for a 13 per cent overall average wage increase.

The association has asked that the board be made up of one representative from government and one from the association, with a Supreme Court Justice as chairman.

In a telegram to Premier Bennett Sunday the association suggested Chief Justice Gordon Sloan as the best person to head the board.

The government previously rejected the arbitration proposal, on the grounds that such a procedure would abrogate the rights of the legislature.

The association replied Sunday: it feels the government would be "morally obliged" to accept the recommendations of the board, but could still submit them to the legislature for approval.

Other points made by the association in its telegram to Premier Bennett:

1. The executive is ready to meet "at a moment's notice" to try and avert the walkout.

2. Civil servants are prepared to maintain essential services during a strike on a voluntary basis if requested by the government.

3. No settlement can be reached unless the government assures there will be no discrimination against civil servants who support the association's actions.

Victoria Workers Meet Tonight

A general meeting of the 2,600-member Victoria branch of the association will be held tonight at the Club Sirocco at 8 p.m. to consider the crisis.

At the meeting will be assistant general secretary Alfred Bennett, and Leslie Wismer, director of government affairs for the Canadian Congress of Labor, who has been advising the association in the last few days.

Alfred Bennett said today the association is prepared to discuss with the government maintenance of "the real, essential services" in the event the strike goes ahead.

"We are willing to sit down and determine what services shall be kept going," he said.

"In the event of a strike the association is prepared to direct its membership to supply services essential to the preservation of human life and safety of the public."

This would be done voluntarily without pay if the government makes a request.

Meanwhile, it was learned the government has wired branch heads and agents throughout the province calling for speedy replies to a memorandum sent out last Thursday.

These officials were asked to state whether they personally intended joining the strike—in order that they might be "replaced"—and to report on the intentions of their staffs.

Although there have been membership withdrawals from the association, there were growing indications today that many civil servants do not intend to leave their jobs if the strike is called.

Besides the 2,400 government

CPR Employees In B.C. Hint Of Strike Action

VANCOUVER (CP)—An official of a railroad union today said there is "imminent possibility" of a strike among Canadian Pacific Railway employees in British Columbia.

General chairman John Graham of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers said a strike might be called this month in a dispute over seniority.

Mr. Graham said the trouble started at Revelstoke, B.C., where the company issued instructions regarded by the union as contrary to standard practices and understandings on seniority.

Saanich Tot Drowns Near Sidney

A three-year-old Saanich child drowned Sunday evening at Canoe Cove in a tragic sequel to a family outing on the water.

Victim was Ronald Shrive, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shrive, 1266 Reynolds Road.

According to Sidney RCMP, the child accompanied his mother to the family car on their return from a picnic trip aboard their boat, leaving Mr. Shrive at the boat.

It is believed he wandered back to the boat to see what his father was doing.

6 FEET OF WATER

When 15 minutes went by and there was no sign of the lad, the family started to search.

He was found by W. J. Snider, 3930 Blenkinsop Road, a friend of the Shrive family, who saw him in six feet of water, dived in immediately and brought him to the surface.

North Saanich Volunteer Fire Department inhalator crew and the Rest Haven Hospital ambulance and resuscitator attended, and two RCMP constables alternated in giving artificial respiration, but after two hours Dr. R. Neufeld of Sidney pronounced him dead.

NEAR GANGWAY

The lad was found beside a gangway leading from shore to floats at the extensive moorings in the cove. It is believed he went off on his own at about 7.15 p.m.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, said today there would be no inquest.

Besides his parents, the child is survived by a sister of 10 years, and two brothers, aged one and six years.

Funeral services will be announced later by Hayward's.

Death Toll High During Weekend In Canada, U.S.

By The Canadian Press

Four of Alberta's six victims were killed on the highways. Nova Scotia reported four fatalities, Saskatchewan three, New Brunswick two, and Manitoba one.

DEATH TOLLS

More than 700 persons were killed in the United States in violent accidents during the long Independence Day holiday period. Traffic deaths, although far below the predicted 535, led the staggering toll.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father, we thank Thee for the splendor and joy of these long summer days. On the farm help us to use them to reap a harvest for the long winter. And give us summer in our souls, that we shall lay up a reserve of inner strength on which we can draw when the winter of trouble hits us like a blizzard; in the name of Christ, Amen.

Death Toll Soars to 130 In European Heat Wave

LONDON (AP)—A night of horror in a Venice old age home, in which 15 patients died, brought Europe's known heat wave deaths to 130 today.

In most European countries the death lists were still incomplete. But dozens more were believed to have perished in drowning accidents or other mishaps attributed to the heat.

Temperatures dropped a bit in northern Europe today but Italy continued to sizzle in the hottest weather there since the Second World War. In parts of the country the thermometer hit around 100 degrees.

At least 23 Italians were known to have died apart from the 15 old people in Venice—a total of 38. In the Milan industrial area, factories shut down at noon four hours as an emergency measure.

But an end to the west coast salmon fishermen's strike, which has been in effect since the season opened June 22, still depends on settlement of a shoreworkers' dispute.

The union leaders had recommended rejection of increased salmon prices sought by cannery operators but the membership voted to accept them.

Union officials could not be reached immediately for details of the voting.

Meanwhile, loggers and millworkers on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland are voting on settlement terms offered Friday morning by employers.

"Whilst prices and profits remain uncontrolled we are determined to take such steps as are open to us industrially to ensure that wages keep pace with rising costs."

Joseph said Aponte told police he has been studying black magic and needed a human skull to dry and make into dust for use in a potion enabling him to cast spells on women.

5 Die in B.C. Accidents On Weekend

By Canadian Press

Five persons died accidentally in B.C. during the weekend. Two were traffic accidents and one was a drowning. A fourth victim suffocated under two feet of muck at a mine and the fifth was struck by a train.

The Queen Charlotte Islands had their first traffic fatality when a car believed driven by Maxwell Anderson, 16, overturned and burned.

Walter Chaster, 32, of North Surrey, was killed when the truck he was driving in went out of control on the Cariboo Highway.

Matthew Henderson, 24-year-old University of B.C. graduate was suffocated when he was buried in two feet of muck at Britannia copper mines.

Dr. George Frederick Barton, 49, of Chilliwack, drowned Sunday in Paul Lake, near Kamloops.

An unidentified man was killed when struck by a CNR passenger train three miles east of Port Mann.

employees who are not members of the association, another 1,000 members of the association voted against strike action in a ballot last month.

Others are fearful of their livelihood, following a government order distributed to finance department branch heads last week warning employees that they would be considered to have resigned if they go on strike.

So far this ultimatum has gone only to the finance department. It was signed by W. F. Veitch, assistant deputy minister.

Association officials presumed the threat was meant to apply to all civil servants and employees in other departments would be receiving similar warnings. None had been received today however.

Mr. Wismer said the CCL would "do everything we possibly can" to help the civil servants settle the dispute before Friday, and during the strike if it is ordered.

Details of what form the support will take have not yet been worked out, he said. The association has no direct affiliation with organized labor, but has plans to consider such a step at its fall convention.

Emergency services the association has agreed to maintain during a strike include prisons, mental hospitals and forest service fire protection operations.

In its offer to meet with Premier Bennett to discuss the crisis, the association made no conditions.

It was reported Saturday that the executive would demand that the "strike and you'll be fired" order be withdrawn before the meeting could take place.

This was not included in the telegram to the premier, however.

Deane Finlayson, provincial Progressive Conservative leader, today urged the government to withdraw its threat to fire any civil servants who go on strike.

"Such threats belong to the dark ages," Mr. Finlayson said. "They will certainly not make for an early solution to the dispute between the civil servants and the government."

The exhibition was the final event of the day's program.

The airman's father, who farms in the Yorkton district, was in the crowd but left just before the accident.

Hanna Skips Drunkenness Court Trial

VANCOUVER (CP)—The lawyer for George Christian Hanna said today the 24-year-old "man without a country" will not appear in police court on a charge of drunkenness.

Hanna was arrested here Saturday, charged with being intoxicated in a public, and released on $10 bail.

Lawyer John Taylor, Conservative MP-elect, said Hanna got on a train Sunday night "for an undisclosed destination" in the British Columbia interior. Mr. Taylor said friends have found Hanna a job there.

"We're trying to keep Hanna's new residence a secret," Mr. Taylor said. "We hope he will now just fade from the public eye."

Hanna listed his birthplace on police records as "at sea." Mr. Taylor said today Hanna's new conflict with authority would undoubtedly weigh against him in the eyes of the new Conservative Immigration Minister David Fulton.

"He is still in Canada on good behavior," he pointed out. "This will definitely have an effect."

Gang Car Drags Boy To Death

HOBART, Ind. (AP)—A teenage "gang war" ended when a 17-year-old boy was dragged to his death under the car of a rival group Saturday.

Police in this northwest Indiana city said Larry Blair was dragged for a block under a car filled with young boys that sped out of a drive-in restaurant parking lot.

Five of Blair's companions were held for questioning, and police were searching for the boys in the death car.

Authorities said the "war" began at a dance Friday night in nearby Portage, where one member of Blair's gang fought with a youth in a rival faction.

The other boy, police said, picked up five friends and chased the Blair car to Hobart, "playing tag" by bumping the two vehicles together on the busy highway.

Police said Blair's gang got out and tried to enter the other automobile when they reached the drive-in parking lot, but the other six youths locked the doors and rolled up the windows.

Blair was standing in front of the vehicle when it suddenly started up, knocking him down and dragging him away as it sped off.

Feud Over Peron Leads to Closing 2 South American Embassies

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina and Venezuela closed their embassies in each other's capitals today in a feud over ousted dictator Juan D. Peron's activities in Venezuela.

Increasingly bitter exchanges build up over a week to the open break in relations between the two countries, located at opposite ends of the South American continent.

The Argentine ambassador to Caracas said on his way home that the Venezuelan government had begun a mass roundup of Argentines in Caracas opposed to Peron.

Argentina charged Venezuela was permitting Peron to mastermind a campaign of subversion and terror against provisional president Pedro Aramburu's government from his exile in Caracas. Aramburu charged Peron and his followers have "woven a tremendous intrigue around Venezuelan authorities."

Venezuela alleged Argentine agents had plotted to kill political refugees in that country.

Argentine Foreign Minister Alfonso de Lafragere announced that diplomatic relations with Venezuela had been "interrupted" rather than broken off. Diplomatic experts said the use of that word indicates relations could be resumed quickly if Peron should leave Venezuela or if his activities were restricted.

A rash of bombings in Buenos Aires has been blamed by the government on Peron followers seeking to prepare for his return to power. A small bomb blew up under a car Sunday night in Buenos Aires, doing little damage. Authorities said they found a terrorist "bomb factory" Saturday night after an accidental explosion in a house.

Purged Reds Tried to Oust Khrushchev

ROME (UP)—The Italian Communist newspaper L'Unita printed today what it called the inside story of the Kremlin shakeup. It said the Vyacheslav M. Molotov "anti-party" group tried to oust Nikita S. Khrushchev with a carefully planned surprise action last month.

It took Khrushchev 13 days of bitter struggle to gain the upper hand, L'Unita said in a dispatch cleared by Moscow censorship and reporting the official Soviet version of the purge.

It said Molotov and former Premier Georgi Malenkov "opened hostilities suddenly with an apparently insignificant request" June 18 or 19. They asked for an urgent extraordinary meeting of the party Presidium, or leadership, under the "pretext" of discussing speeches to be delivered in Leningrad.

The request was accepted although it sounded "rather strange" and that "three effective members of the directorate were then absent from Moscow." Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Khrushchev were in Finland at the time.

"As soon as the session opened, however, the four men raised far different subjects," the report said. The four were Malenkov, Molotov, Lazar Kaganovich and Dimitri Shepilov.

"One after the other, they attacked, asking for profound changes in the membership of the party secretariat and the government, because the political line followed lately was in their opinion radically wrong, or so the four called it—Trotskyite and opportunist."

"The list of the new appointments was already prepared. The first who would have had to go was obviously Khrushchev."

DEMANDED VOTE

"... They demanded an immediate vote, counting on a majority also because of the absence of the three (presidium members)."

The Malenkov-Molotov group suffered a first setback when the three absent presidium members rushed back to Mos-

HOODED WHITE MEN ACCUSED OF BEATING

PRATTVILLE, Ala. (AP)—A 27-year-old Birmingham Negro today told the Birmingham News that he was beaten by hooded white men early Sunday.

James Henry Brock, a trucking company employee, was treated at a Birmingham hospital for multiple bruises of his face, back and arms.

Brock said the incident occurred while he was on a vacation trip in the Montgomery area. He said two carloads of hooded men forced him into one of their cars and drove him into a wooded area where they beat him on the back with tree limbs.

Canadian UN Official Fired Upon

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—A United Nations truce observer reported pinned down for 2½ hours Sunday by Syrian machinegun fire was identified today as Maj. Grant (Red) Forest, of Montreal, a member of the Black Watch Regiment of Canada.

An Israeli army spokesman said Maj. Forrest and an unidentified Israeli delegate to the Syrian-Israeli mixed armistice commission, escorted by two Israeli policemen, were fired on as they approached the Syrian border near the Israeli village of Shamir.

The men took cover in a ditch a few hundred yards from the border, the spokesman said.

The policemen managed to withdraw despite the firing and went for reinforcements.

An Israeli police force approached the area and exchanged fire with the Syrians, the Israeli said. Under the protective cover, Maj. Forrest and the Israeli officer withdrew.

Israelis 'Threaten' Holy Lands

CAIRO (AP)—The Middle East News Agency says King Saud of Saudi Arabia has said Israeli warships in the Gulf of Aqaba threaten the Moslem holy lands.

The semi-official Egyptian agency said Saud issued his warning Friday in a speech to Moslem dignitaries on their pilgrimage to the holy city of Mecca.

Saud was quoted as saying he will call on Arab, Islamic and other "peace-loving countries" to help repel what he called the Israeli threat if peaceful methods fail.

Saud was quoted as saying he is working with other Arab-Islamic states to restore the Gulf of Aqaba to the condition that existed before Israel's attack on Egypt last fall. Israeli shipping was barred from the gulf by Egyptian guns posted on the Egyptian shore and on the Saudi islands of Tiran and Sinafar at the gulf's mouth.

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Complete mystery shrouds the state of health of one of the world's richest and shyest men, Canadian-born John-Thorburn Williamson.

The 49-year-old diamond mine owner is reported seriously ill at suburban Karen but he has ordered complete silence among his staff on the state of his health. The pattern of his life has been one of no publicity.

Commonwealth First in Crisis, Macmillan Analysis on Parley

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan said Sunday night "the Commonwealth comes first in our hearts and minds."

Discussing last week's conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in a television-radio talk, he said:

"We in Britain have friendly and co-operative relations with many countries. We have a special relationship with the countries of Europe, which we hope to strengthen and extend."

"But if there should at any time be a conflict between the calls upon us, there is no doubt where we stand. The Commonwealth comes first in our hearts and minds."

Represented at the conference were Canada, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Australia, New Zealand, Ghana, South Africa, Central African Federation and Britain. Referring directly to the conference, he said:

"We agreed on some things, disagreed on others—as you would expect."

SESSIONS DIFFERENT
Macmillan granted that the conference communique might have seemed "not very exciting."

But the Commonwealth meetings, are different from "the sort of international conferences and meetings which you and I know so well, where the main purpose is to make a large number of set speeches and pass a long list of resolutions."

"I am never quite sure that those conferences achieve very much..."

Individual conversations and more formal sessions of the Commonwealth talks are valuable because they allow each member to make decisions "with a full knowledge of what all its Commonwealth partners are thinking."

The Commonwealth leaders "really do confer to exchange ideas," he said. Referring to the conference as a "family meeting," he said such sessions can be "lively, frank, friendly, vigorous and not always unanimous."

But he said he was pleased by

Mr. Diefenbaker's Markets

MR. DIFENBAKER'S PLANS for re-organizing the Commonwealth's trade, says The Manchester Guardian, are two years late. The Guardian means that in the last two years Britain has so fully committed its economic future to the new free trading zone of Europe that it cannot revise its policy and concentrate its trade within the Commonwealth.

In any case Britain could not make itself primarily dependent on the Commonwealth markets because they are far too narrow for its needs. An attempt in that direction was made at the Ottawa trade conference of 1932 and after its obvious failure no British Government has ever been willing to revive it. For the last two decades Britain's policy, under Conservative and Labor Governments, has been to expand the general world market, the only market large enough to satisfy Britain's needs.

It would be useless for any Canadian government to propose that Britain now reorient its business into the relatively narrow Commonwealth market. Britain would refuse to consider such a project. So would other members of the Commonwealth.

So would Canada when the consequences were faced. For less than any country in the world could Canada afford to destroy its huge American market in order to secure some form of tariff preference within the Commonwealth. There is no possible substitute for our American market and other markets outside the Commonwealth. In Britain's case there is no substitute for the European, the American and the world market.

All these facts are so obvious, have been proved so often and confirmed in the Geneva trade agreements that Mr. Diefenbaker undoubtedly is well aware of them, as his latest statements indicate. He cannot be thinking, therefore, of a new effort to build a picket fence of tariffs around the Commonwealth, a system of restrictions ruinous to the Commonwealth in general and Canada in particular. Indeed, he has already repudiated any thought of damaging our trade with the United States or limiting world trade in total.

To say that we cannot afford to contract out of the world market and confine ourselves to an imaginary, impossible zollverein, is not to say that we can do nothing to promote Commonwealth trade.

It can be promoted by the production in the Commonwealth countries of the kind of goods that their fellow members require at competitive prices. It can be promoted by the movement of capital—British investment in Canada, for example, to produce goods for use in Britain, or Canadian investment, like the Colombo Plan, in Asia.

All such efforts are to be encouraged so long as they do not operate to reduce the total volume of world trade on which all the Commonwealth depends. It is something of this sort that Mr. Diefenbaker seems to have in mind. His further plans will be awaited with interest.

Apart altogether from the familiar theme of Commonwealth trade, the Conservative Government is committed to some increase in the Canadian tariff, mainly on agricultural products.

Undoubtedly this promise of more protection was a large factor in the Conservative success among the farm constituencies of Ontario and other provinces.

How far the Government intends to go in reversing the Liberal tariff policy of the last thirty years remains to be seen. We should understand at the beginning, however, just what tariff increases under present conditions would mean.

They would mean an instant increase in the cost of living. Their only purpose is to increase the price paid to the producer, who may well deserve it, if he is a farmer. But the increased price must be paid by the Canadian consumer at a time when the cost of living is at a peak and is still moving remorselessly upward.

If Mr. Diefenbaker is determined to raise the cost of living by the sure method of tariff increases he will hear from the consumer without delay.

Get the Best of Many

THE SUGGESTION THAT GOVERNMENT House should be rebuilt as an exact replica of the building destroyed by fire carries the implication that the former structure was perfect in every way. Even the most confirmed admirers of the Lieutenant Governor's mansion will retreat from such an assertion.

It is obvious that many improvements could be made in the original plans: a more convenient provision for the many guests, a better exploitation of the magnificent hilltop view of the Strait—one of the finest prospects in the world—better heating and lighting facilities and so on, while still avoiding extreme departures from popular concepts.

What admirers of the old building wish to preserve more than anything is the homelike charm of the paneled rooms and the fine proportions of the halls in which the public gathered on so many pleasant occasions. The desirable atmosphere can be retained, it is felt, while still incorporating many improvements and advantages not possible in the old building.

For this reason the Vancouver Island Chapter of the Architectural Institute of B.C. proposes that a competition for the best design for a new Government House be held among the architects of this province. Obviously such a challenge would call out the best ideas available locally, and logically ought to result in a better plan than if left to one man or group.

The architects of the provincial public works department, to whom it had earlier been suggested the job should be left, are specialists in utilitarian buildings and no doubt fully occupied with the current expansion of public works throughout the province. The idea of an open competition has much to commend it and should be considered by the authorities. Government House, after all, belongs to the people and should be built with an eye to serving many future generations.

A Chance to Prove Itself

THE NATIONAL YOUTH CLUB is to be congratulated on the support it has received for a petition seeking the establishment of a drug strip and youth centre in Victoria.

The club, with a membership listed at 700, has reportedly collected the signatures of 2,800 residents, about 90 per cent of them adults, endorsing its requests.

What the cost of a drug strip or youth centre may be has not been indicated. However, with close to 3,000 individuals expressing an appreciation of the need for such facilities, the club should be in a position to raise a substantial starting sum.

Perhaps if those who signed the petition, along with members of the club itself, were to fix a certain assessment from members and supporters, the National Youth Club would not only define its own willingness to help itself, but would also determine for itself the character of support provided by petition signers.

As long as the organization can prove to the public that it is a worthwhile, self-propelling, self-supporting body, it may expect to win friends in the community.

Howe, Cardinal Paul-Emile Leger and publisher John McConnell Jr. A presentable list. But what about Davie Dunton, whose electronic power extends from St. John's to Victoria? Coyne, whose signature appears on every piece of legal tender in Canada? Somehow or other, we feel that the radiant Mrs. Coyne would appeal to the romantic ladies who edit Vogue!

Vogue Lists Our Power

WHO ARE THE TEN MOST powerful men in Canada?

In case this problem has been bothering you (which it hasn't), you may cease fretting: our American friends have settled the issue, and in the most astonishing medium—the women's fashion magazine Vogue, no less.

Howe, Cardinal Paul-Emile Leger and publisher John McConnell Jr. A presentable list. But what about Davie Dunton, whose electronic power extends from St. John's to Victoria? Or Robertson Davies, our talented novelist-playwright? H. R. MacMillan? Or that distinguished honey-mooner in our midst, John E. ### HAMLET IS THIS YEAR'S MAIN STRATFORD ATTRACTION

—NEWS ITEM

AND SO TO BED

By B. A. TOBIN

Mattresses Don't Matter

MR. CHARLES COOK, the head of the national federation of bedding makers in England, has been giving out a few philosophical comments on his industry. He claims that many of the world's ills are due to faulty sleeping, and that a proper bed could cure them. If Mr. Khrushchev, he says, would come to him for a properly designed bed, he would sleep better at night and international relations would benefit correspondingly. "A humpsumaniac," says the bedding boss, "is a person who gets the hump through sleeping on a lumpy, the lumpy being bulges in ancient mattresses."

Mr. Cook may have something there. There is no doubt that a lumpy night brings on a grumpy morning, a dumpy afternoon and a frumpy evening. If through all those waking hours you have been influencing international affairs, obviously the next day's headlines are going to carry news of crisis, threats and unrest.

Let Them Lie

Unlike dogs, diplomats do not have to be sleeping to lie. The sleepless ones, indeed, may prove to be the most out-lying.

The same principle must apply to other important areas of existence. In disarmament conferences, in labor negotiations, in the sports arena, in the schoolroom or even the household kitchen, the mind refreshed by a good night's sleep will bring to bear the calm appraisal and balanced judgement that are so necessary today.

According to Mr. Cook, this state of mind can best be achieved by reclining on one of his valuable products, those masterpieces of springs, padding and colorful ticking so widely displayed. Even the advertisements make you tired.

Soft Memories

But I think he goes a little too far in implying that these creations are the ultimate in sleep-inducing comfort. With a little probing of memory I can recall a good many beds that were far, far superior to his products—beds which provided a sleep as refreshing as the freshness of their memory after the passage of these many years.

I can remember, for instance, an evening in the Pass of Glencoe nearly 25 years ago, when I pulled a motorbike to the side of the road and threw my blankets on the foot-thick moss.

That was a mattress to dream about, and on. No ghost of Campbell or MacDonald could disturb that slumber, and I awoke in the morning as though I had been resting all night on a cloud.

I can remember the hot sand of the Nevada desert, where having scooped out hip and shoulder depressions you could relax and feel the living warmth of the earth seep through your groundsheet throughout the starlit night. Which of Mr. Cook's products could give you that?

Nor need the bed be soft, for softness is not necessary to real comfort. I can remember drowsy noon-hours in the old CPS mill near the gas works. Stretched on a pile of shiplap, with the warm, humid air bringing out the pitchy perfume of new-cut wood, the scream of the saws mercifully stilled for a while, you could envy no one his fluffy bolsters and spiral springs.

Alarm Clock

Your body adjusted to the bending boards, and only the one o'clock whistle could rouse you from your dreams.

Or at a much later date I can remember an overnight stay in Mahoning Park, on the Hope-Princeton Highway. Here the yielding earth of a campsite provided the bed, and the chuckling rustle of a stream whispering over mossy rocks the lullaby, for as sound a slumber as man could desire.

Ab no, Mr. Cook, the creaking of your scientifically designed springs, no matter how well padded, cannot compare with that.

Or I can remember, years ago, the wide expanse of a Florida beach, where the soft sand under your blanket aligned itself with the contours of your body to make a perfect couch, and the unceasing surf rolling in a few yards away murmured a slumber song that made wakefulness impossible.

No Comparison

No, Mr. Cook, the mattress has its place, but it is not the final answer. It is a poor substitute—admittedly the best we can devise, but a poor one—for all the wonderful beds which nature has designed for our comfort.

Pursue your studies, invent new springs and materials, create the finest pallet your imagination can envision. Then put it aside, leave it at home, go out and lie under a fir tree or a palm or the wide starry sky, on the couch that has been provided for man since the earliest dawn of time. Only then will you experience perfection in sleeping, only then will you know the joy of real rest.

As Our Readers See It

For Canada and Queen

Although the context of a "letter" entitled "Real Canadians" by O. D. Davis was more amusing to me than irritating, by its complete distortion of facts, I find that in part the writer has coined a phrase which in itself has completely answered his own epistle. I refer directly to his expression — "... smack of colonialism and of Canada being a subservient state."

Unfortunately the insinuation and even the materialization of the 'subservient state' plus the economic 'colonization' of this country is already well under-way; most certainly not from any sterling currency nation, but strictly from the hood-winking, hypocritical "Freedom Fighters" of the U.S.A.!

When we stop to consider the dominant power the so-called "International" Unions (all with Headquarters in the U.S.) despotically crack over the heads of the majority of Canadian workers, the gross exploitation of our natural resources by the same nation, and the gullibility of the minority group of anti-Commonwealthers in our midst, we can do nothing finer in this hour of Canada's glory than to rally every vestige of inherited pride within us and openly declare ourselves for Canada, the Commonwealth, and our Gracious Queen, God Bless her.

C. B. CARLTON.

Asks Information

I read with interest Bruce Hutchison's column on the "Jolly Mystic." It has intrigued me to the point of writing to the editor with a request, that if the Swami is so disposed, to give us Westerners a brief expose or an outline on the churches of the East, how are they preserved and what part do the Swamis, Gurus or Preceptors play in holding these churches or religious orders together. Also to draw a contrast with the Western churches.

I think many of us could learn a lot of interesting things from the Swami, and we should avail ourselves of the opportunity while he is here.

J. E. PODOVINIKOFF.

Hilliers, B.C.

Congratulations

Congratulations to the foresight of the leaders of the IWA in closing the gap in the recent conciliation meetings. They have achieved a fine step forward in the settlements of all differences.

The wave of prosperity in Canada and B.C. in particular, has not been brought about by any one line of industry, but has been the results of the united efforts of all combined.

It is thus logical that no one industry should step in and want to claim all the profits.

Another angle to consider: what has the IWA actually done to produce all this timber? Nature grows it, man steps in and slaughters it wholesale. Pause and consider.

Since the beginning of this century mankind has made more discoveries in all branches of science than in any other period in the history of the world. The labor unions have kept pace with all advances in improving working conditions in every manufacturing undertaking.

FROM WASHINGTON

BY STEWART ALSOP

The Soviet ICBM

THE American government now has convincing evidence that the Soviets have successfully tested their first experimental version of a very long-range, multi-stage ballistic missile. The Soviet prototype was tested only a few weeks before "Atlas," the first American version of an Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile, was blown up off the Florida coast, on June 11. This first Soviet test of an ICBM prototype is, of course, an event of grave international significance. It is comparable, as a technical achievement, to the first Soviet test of an atomic bomb, in 1949, and to the first Soviet hydrogen bomb test, in 1953. Eventually, it may be expected to have the same profound effect on the world balance of power as those two Soviet technical triumphs.

Alsop

The ICBM has been called "the ultimate weapon" because there is no known defence against it.

A fully operational ICBM is designed to fly half way round the world at several hundred miles altitude, in a matter of minutes, armed with a thermonuclear warhead—a characteristic which suggests why any defence against it is for the present wholly theoretical.

First Version

The Soviet test version was a multi-stage rocket with an "operational" configuration." In other words, it was a first test version of a weapon designed for ultimate military use, rather than a mere research vehicle.

This does not mean, of course, that the Soviets will have operational ICBMs in strategically decisive quantities in the very near future. There is a long, difficult road to travel between the first test firing of a prototype multi-stage, long range missile and the achievement of an operational weapons system.

An ICBM consists essentially of three parts—the enormous first stage rocket which powers the initial flight, the second stage rocket which carries the warhead over the target area, and the warhead itself.

The first stage must be tested again and again to eliminate "bugs." Then the accurate "divorce" of the second stage from the first must also be repeatedly tested — it is no easy task to launch one rocket from the back of another, travelling at many times the speed of sound, so accurately that the second rocket remains on course.

Finally, a thermonuclear warhead must also be designed capable of withstanding the terribly high temperatures caused by the friction of the re-entry of the rocket into the earth's atmosphere. And, once all these problems have throughout the nation. Now let us not spoil all this by stepping back to the Stone Age and calling out a strike for every imagined difference.

Man has been given the divine power to think, to plan and to create. What shall it be? Confusion? Or a further advance in service to all mankind? F. N. SPENCER.

Price Spread

At this side of our resource-rich and productive land I would like to say that I was impressed with that warning, credited in your June 24 news columns to W. H. Funtston, president of the Fire, Stone Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada Ltd., that "Any shortening of the work week without a compensating increase in productivity will result in a declining economy instead of the dynamic expanding economy envisaged by the Gordon Commission."

It seems to this reader that the above meshes rather neatly into the following brace of assertions which I ran across in my recent reading: (a) "We will provide needed help to the agricultural industry and to alleviate the detrimental effects of the squeeze in which farmers are now and have been irreparably caught between rising costs of production and falling farm prices" (Prime Minister John Diefenbaker in an address on "A New National Policy"), and (b) "Due to inflation and other causes, the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar is constantly and seriously shrinking. Between the farm gate and the consumer's shopping basket far too much toll is exacted by rents, taxes, transportation, processing, wages and profits." (Editorial comment in June 22, Farmer's Advocate and Canadian Countryman, London, Ont.)

In the circumstances, I'm thinking that all the above pictures add up to the demand of the organized farmers recently, calling for an inquiry commission to "look into the spread" between food prices in town and city, and the slice of the urban "food dollar" which, in fact, gets back to our primary producers.

"ACTION NOW."

Time for Thought

Many of the public of this province are deeply concerned re the threatened strike against the duly elected government of British Columbia by the civil service.

It surely amounts to intimidation of the crown, or parliament by subjects—which according to the dictionary is treasonable.

This is a very serious matter, and if the strike is allowed to materialize might lead to most serious and unlooked for consequences.

Let the members of the civil service think again before taking such a drastic step which they might deeply regret. This is not against a company but against the elected representatives of the people. It is not intimidation by the Premier, but by the would-be strikers against the Crown.

The writer feels there must be sufficient loyal members of the civil service who will refuse to be led into such an action and who will prefer the more honorable course of seeking settlement by further negotiation.

CIVILIAN.

Fred and Myrtle

I DON'T know why it is but whenever I go to a pretty picnic place, I always seem to get there just after Fred and Myrtle have passed that way.

Although I've never seen them, I know just what they're like.

They're a nice young couple. Very conscientious in their own particular way.

Myrtle's house is spottier and far tidier than mine. Her windows shine. Her floors are a treat. A dirty finger print on the fridge gets wiped off in next to no time. Her daughter Sharon's dress is always crisp and fresh in summer time. Little Freddie's hair is always neat when he starts off to school. His mother always sees that he brushes his teeth, and has no holes in his socks.

And Fred is marvellous round the place. His lawn is mown. His car is washed and shining always. If any of his neighbors are in trouble then Fred is kindness itself.

It's only when they get off their own property that Fred and Myrtle seem to change.

For their chief contribution to this province is loads and loads of litter. They scatter tons of it every year, mostly in the summer.

They do it with never a thought of what they're doing, and never a thought of those who will come after them.

"Freddie, that ice cream is dribbling down your chin," says Myrtle as they drive up Island. "Take this paper napkin and wipe it off at once. Then throw it out the window."

"What'll I do with my dixie cup?" asks Freddie.

"Throw it out dear," says Myrtle gaily.

"My, but isn't the sea just beautiful," she says, throwing a banana skin in the direction of the view.

"Gee, but the river's pretty," says Sharon, when the picnic's over. "And the water in this pool was the warmest ever."

"Throw this carton in," says Fred. "We don't want to lug it all the way back home."

"Lookit, Dad," screams little Freddie. "I put that bottle on a stump and pitched a boulder at it. Got it on my second try."

"Put up another," says Fred. "Bet I can break it with my first shot."

Oh, happy Fred and Myrtle. Their car has been a boon to them. Before they got it, they had to stick to the city parks. Now they can range all over. Every weekend in the summer, they go to a different pretty place.

Before Labor Day, they'll have paused at every scenic viewpoint on the Island Highway. They'll have been to every public beach. They'll have visited the best rivers and stopped by every lovely lake.

Their cans and cartons, their picnic plates and papers, their broken glass and orange peel will mark the places where they went.

I guess I'm silly to get mad with Messy Myrtle and Filthy Fred. But, to be honest, they rather frighten me.

They frighten me because they never give a thought to those who will come after them.

I hate to think of what their mental attitude, multiplied a million-fold, could do to the natural resources of this province.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Oh, To Be in England

LONDON.—Lm...writing...this...during...the English version of a sweltering hot day.

It's some weather that has come up from Spain but it seems to have lost a bit of its punch on the way up because although the sun is beating down from a cloudless sky outside I need a sweater on as I type this indoors.

On days such as this, with all the appearance of summer heat, one cannot help but have a yen to be back in Canada. A little thing this morning reminded me of the contrast of summer there to summer here.

I had been sunbathing in the garden and as I passed a car in the sun, my bare arm brushed the metal, but it was cool.

I was at once reminded of the opposite in Canada, where you dare not lean on a car door to talk to someone in the heat of the day for fear of getting a burn.

Which set me thinking of the other things I miss which go to make up a Canadian summer.

People sitting in front of their houses and on the sidewalks in front of buildings down-towns to escape the heat indoors. You never see English people doing this. On the rare occasions when they do have to escape indoor heat they do it at the back.

The sound of bullfrogs croaking at night, a sound I used to listen to when I slept at night on the veranda of a house in Eastern Canada many years ago. In England, bullfrogs and crickets don't seem to put up any

Visits to the coke machines in office buildings (the English don't have them) and ice cream sodas. Why the ice cream soda has never caught on in England, heaven alone knows.

Cops in summer shirts (here they sweat it out in their blue serge uniforms) ... a kindly boss in mid-afternoon saying "The heat's too much, let's all go home" ... the girls bursting out into white bag, white gloves, white shoes—the weather here is too unreliable for that ... the typical sound of lawn sprinklers trying to get some green into the parched brown turf.

But although one may yearn for day after day of sunshine and cottages at the lake, there are compensations. Here you don't have to bother with screens, you aren't pestered by black flies and mosquitoes. England's thunderstorms are gentle, and you never have to toss sleepless through a broiling night.

FIRST IN 6 YEARS

Ingrid Stars in Role Of Mother at Reunion

PARIS (UP) — Ingrid Bergman lives today the drama of a reunion with her 18-year-old daughter Jenny Ann Lindstrom whom she left behind when she married Roberto Rossellini.

It is the first meeting of mother and daughter in six years and only the second since the actress gave up home and family in 1949 to marry the Italian movie director.

Miss Bergman flew here from a hurried trip to Rome where her five-year-old daughter Isabella underwent an emergency appendicitis operation. Isabella and Isotta are twin daughters by Rossellini.

Jenny Ann, a sophomore at the University of Colorado at Boulder, was flying in from a vacation in Sweden to visit relatives.

Rossellini himself is expected to return soon from India for a reunion with Ingrid and it was believed Jenny Ann would meet him in Rome. Ingrid has denied reports of a rift with her husband over his alleged affair in Bombay with the wife of an Indian movie official.

The Swedish stage and screen star rushed to Rome from Paris Saturday when told Isabella had been operated on Friday night. Before leaving Rome she said she was "completely satisfied" of Isabella's recovery.

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia's Bolshoi Ballet Company will probably make a return visit to London in the near future, it was announced here today. No dates have yet been fixed.

NERVES PAY OFF

March Plays Fast-Talking Movie Con Man

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hal March on leave from the $64,000 question TV show, is here to star in a movie. Quite a difference from his last movie date here.

That was two years ago. The personable emcee played a punch-drunk fighter in It's Always Fair Weather. He got no billing for the role—until the TV show broke big and he was hailed as a "special added attraction."

At the same time, he was doubling in My Sister Eileen, playing a one-day bit as a drunk. Today he's the star of Hear Me Good, and he appears in every scene of the picture.

SHARP CONTRAST

The role is in sharp contrast to his down-to-earth, fair-and-square approach to his job as $64,000 emcee. In Hear Me Good, he plays the fastest-talking, sharpest-dealing con man who ever came down Broadway. How will he reconcile that with his TV fans?

"Oh, well," he said, "the show may be over in a year."

That's not likely. It still manages to stay among the top-rated shows, thanks to its steady stream of engrossing treasure seekers. Hal's contract extends another year, but the show can stay on the network for three. And he can remain with it if he chooses.

Why shouldn't he? Hal admitted the assignment was not far removed from stealing money.

"There's no rehearsal," he said. "The camera positions remain the same each week. I don't have to study the questions because I don't see them until they're handed to me on the show."

"The show actually takes an hour a week. But I get there at nine so I can do a little preparation on the pre-question interviews. I'm through at 10.35."

Hal's success is a study in contrasts. He was known around Hollywood as a polished performer, a sharp man with a straight line or gag, an all-round good actor. "But I was a bit on TV because I was nervous," he laughed.

"You see an entirely different performer as Hal rehearses for Hear Me Good. Hal rips off great mouthfuls of rapid dialogue without a hitch."

Canadian to Judge At Moscow Festival

MONTREAL (CP) — Folklore authority Michel Cartier of suburban Longueuil has accepted a Russian invitation to judge folk dances at Moscow's sixth world festival of youths and students for peace and friendship.

Cartier, who was asked to enter his study group in the same festival two years ago, accepted after he obtained permission to prolong his Russian stay to study Russian folk dancing.

He said Saturday he is due in Moscow July 28, and will stay about a month. He had to turn down the earlier invitation because of lack of funds. This time, Russia is paying his way.

Cartier's invitation was signed by Russian prima ballerina Galina Ulanova, violinist David Oistrakh and composer Dmitri Shostakovich. He said he will be one of about 15 festival judges.

Truman Library Officially Opened

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—The Harry S. Truman Memorial Library was officially opened Saturday by Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court.

Many U.S. leaders, past and present, joined a crowd estimated at 10,000 under a sweltering sun for the ceremony.

President Eisenhower sent a brief message of greeting and 82-year-old former president Herbert Hoover, obviously uncomfortable in the 91-degree heat, praised the establishment of the $21,000,000 institution.

It houses all the documents and mementos collected by Truman during nearly eight years in the White House.

NEGRO PASTOR IN CHURCH FOR WHITES

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The new Negro pastor of a formerly all-white Methodist church wiped away tears and told his overflow congregation of 1,000:

"I am overwhelmed with joy. I can say only thanks."

Sunday was Rev. Nelson Burdette Higgins Jr.'s first day in the pulpit of the Normandie Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church. His appointment—which touched off a walkout by most of the white parishioners—was announced last month.

It was the first appointment of a Negro as pastor of an all-white church in the southern California-Arizona Methodist conference.

Tourist Lure Alligator Branded a Menace

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., (AP)—The alligator, one of Florida's top tourist attractions, is suddenly under suspicion of being a man killer.

It has long been known that the lazy, repulsive-looking reptiles sometimes make unprovoked attacks on humans. Plenty of documented cases are on record but no clearcut case of their killing a person has been established.

A little more than a week ago, however, a nine-year-old boy, Alan David Rice, disappeared from his home at Eau Gallie. Two days later his badly mangled body, with both arms missing, was found on the bank of a creek near his home.

Teeth marks on the body were clearly those of an alligator. Hunters killed an 11½ foot specimen.

New method for saving and improving hair will be demonstrated by M. D. Harrison in Victoria at the Dominion Hotel, Tuesday and Wednesday.

NEW HOME TREATMENT HOLDS HOPE FOR THOSE THREATENED WITH BALDNESS

Many old-fashioned misconceptions about baldness are being discarded these days with the discovery of new and improved methods of treating the hair and scalp. M. D. Harrison, Specialist, has revealed.

Men who once shrugged off their gradual loss of hair as an unavoidable fact—something they just had to put up with because of heredity, etc.—are being shown that there is something they can do about it in all except a small minority of cases.

M. D. Harrison, Hair and Scalp Specialist, through his intense research has brought about amazing methods for treating local disorders of the hair and scalp. The promise that this research now holds out to balding men and women is contained in a remarkably effective method of home treatment which can be employed easily by anyone once the examination determines the cause of your individual Hair and Scalp problems.

New Methods Demonstrated In Victoria

The Harrison method of treatment is being demonstrated this week in this city by the well-known Hair and Scalp Specialist—M. D. Harrison, Chief Administrator of the Harrison Hair and Scalp Clinic. His years of experience and skill as an expert on hair and scalp problems has enabled thousands of people doomed to baldness to again enjoy healthier and thicker hair.

M. D. Harrison will be here only two days, and in that time is giving residents of this city the opportunity to have a free examination and advice on their hair and scalp problems. If you are worrying about your hair going instead of growing—and if you haven't let your hair fall out to the "drumhead" stage—chances are M. D. Harrison can suggest a home treatment for your specific needs.

The complete examination, which puts you under no obligation, will be to the point and frank. We do not accept cases where it appears doubtful results will be obtained. But the chances are 10 to 1 you can be helped.

Ski Race Across Strait Proposed

Langford Skiers Pounded In Juan de Fuca Crossing

A four-man attempt at a two-way water-ski crossing of Juan de Fuca Strait Sunday was partially successful; cost nearly $100; and may lead to a race sponsored by the Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The four Langford men—Cliff Johnson, Don Lowe, Knute Johnson and Neal Smith—aimed to ski from Victoria to the U.S. shore, rest for an hour, then make the return trip, being towed in pairs.

Cliff and Don made it from this side in one hour and nine minutes; Knute and Neal took an even hour for the return trip.

They were the first to try and first to conquer the strait on skis.

The attempt was beset with nasty weather and bad luck, but the attention it drew in Port Angeles is almost certain to lead to a cash prize for a cross-strait race.

"We have $100 put up by a member for a water-ski competition," a spokesman for the Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce said today. "The attempt of the Victoria men Sunday is enough to touch off action."

Ground Swells Dumped Them

After bad weather washed out a scheduled Saturday attempt, the four skiers started out at 7 a.m. Sunday.

Half way across the strait the ground swells became heavy. Shortly after, bad luck took over, and one by one the skiers "dumped" in rough seas.

Last to go was Cliff Johnson, about 4 miles from Port Angeles.

One of the tow boats, which travel at about 20 knots, took a heavy pounding.

Don Lowe said: "Our toes were numb before we cleared Victoria harbor."

Travelling at 25 miles per hour, legs heavily greased and wearing large navy-type life jackets, the skiers were beset also with cramps.

A cramp in one of Lowe's hands and grease on the towing bar cost him a spill.

But it was heavy weather that really finished the first crossing.

"We were jumping six-foot waves. The boat towing us was leaping right out of the water," he stated. "The waves seemed to be coming from two directions."

Most tiring effect was that caused by staring at the rushing water for such a long time, he said.

The four men, accompanied by a guide boat, returned to Victoria and started a second attempt at 11:55 a.m. Although the boats were fairly close together, starting at about 200 yards apart, they lost sight of each other in heavy swells.

Crack in Bottom of Boat

The boat towing Knute and Neal had to pull up with a crack in the bottom. Their tow lines were transferred to the guide boat, but it did not have sufficient power to tow above 10 knots, and the two were pulled into the boat.

Meanwhile Cliff and Don were towed successfully to Port Angeles, where they were joined by the unsuccessful skiers.

On instruction of U.S. immigration authorities in Victoria, the skiers and pilots waited by their boats while one man phoned the immigration office.

"We waited until 3:20 p.m. and thought they weren't coming, so we sent the pilots to the Black Ball Wharf to make enquiries. They were told to wait by the boats until we are ready."

An official finally arrived and told the foursome they would be required to pay $44.50 which represented his overtime pay. One of the boat pilots, Elmo Johnson, had to stay behind to fill out forms and pay over the money at the immigration office. He was detained until 5:15 p.m. and had to return on the Black Ball ferry.

With only one tow boat fast enough to make the crossing, it was decided to give Knute and Neal the chance to make it back to Victoria. They left Port Angeles at 3:45 p.m. arrived here at 4:45 p.m.

In addition to the customs overtime cost, the men will have to pay for repairs to the boat, and one man's fare back from Port Angeles.

Don Lowe today estimated total cost of the expedition at between $80 and $100.

"If the Port Angeles Chamber puts up a cash prize, we'll certainly be after it," he said.

Reeve Ash Presses Amalgamation Vote

Notice of motion to ask Saanich ratepayers if they want a study of amalgamation of urban Saanich with the city of Victoria will be made tonight by Reeve Arthur Ash.

The much-debated question likely will be discussed at length by Saanich council Tuesday night at an expected extension of tonight's regular meeting, already set for a 65-item agenda.

In the past, tentative discussions on the subject have resulted in verbal free-for-alls in Saanich council and on public platforms.

Reeve Ash is Greater Victoria's most outspoken advocate for amalgamation, but members of his council have consistently spoken against the idea or any attempt to pursue a study of it.

The reeve said today his resolution would call for a referendum at the annual elections in December, asking in words to this effect:

"Do you favor a full investigation and report into the possibility of amalgamation of the urban section of Saanich with the city of Victoria, the decision and report or recommendation to receive final approval of the ratepayers?"

Coun. Leslie Passmore recently stated any such referendum should call for a straight "yes" or "no" in answer to the question "Do you favor amalgamation?"

Mr. Ash has said this would be tantamount to asking a non-swimmer to jump into a lake without knowing how deep the water is.

Elderly Pair Brush Death In Rolling Car

Hit-Run Car Sought in Saanich

Saanich police are still seeking a hit-run car which flipped an elderly couple's small car Saturday night on Trans-Canada Highway at Admirals Road.

The English sedan driven by 80-year-old William George Bird accompanied by his wife Florence, 70, of 566 Gorge West, turned over three or four times, but neither was injured seriously.

Police said the Bird car was proceeding north across the highway after stopping for a stop sign on Admirals at about 8:25 p.m.

The other car, east-bound on the highway, apparently caught the rear of the Bird vehicle before it cleared the highway, sending it out of control and turning it over.

SPED AWAY

The hit-run driver slowed but did not stop, then sped away.

Mrs. Bird was taken to Jubilee Hospital with a fractured little finger and bruises.

Her husband was shaken up, but unhurt.

Mrs. Anna Galbraith, 61, Qualicum Beach, received a head cut and was discharged at St. Joseph's Hospital at 10:30 p.m. Saturday after the car in which she was riding was in a minor collision at Burnside and Trans-Canada.

James Ross, seven, 467 Fraser, was admitted at St. Joseph's with a left leg injury and abrasions after the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car on Lyall near South Joffre Sunday at 12:20 p.m.

Esquimalt police said driver of the auto was Roy Bendall, 1106 Hilda.

WALL HITS CHIEF IN GARAGE FIRE

Fire Chief Frank Briers escaped with only a bump on the head when part of burning garage collapsed on him early Sunday.

He was out in answer to an alarm at 2409 Douglas, where a 1949 model car and frame garage were destroyed at about 3:20 a.m.

Flames were well under way when firemen arrived and as the chief stepped close to direct firefighting, part of the wall fell on him.

Most of the force was taken by the hard helmet worn by the chief, and he was not hurt.

Car owner Vince Leighton told firemen he had probably left a burning cigarette in the car when he drove it into the garage shortly after midnight Saturday.

It burned out the upholstery and heat and burning paint ignited the old frame building, which burned unnoticed for a considerable time.

Sidney Fisherman Found Dead

Surviving are his wife, Gladys; son, Frank, and a nephew, Larry, all at the family home, 1046 Third Street, Sidney; his mother, Mrs. Pearl Eckert, and two brothers and two sisters, also in Sidney.

Funeral will be held at Sands in Sidney on Thursday at 2 p.m.

OUR VERY OWN ISLAND DIGEST

(Writ by hand by Our Very Own Island correspondents.)

WALLOPEM BEACH, V.I.—The progressive merchants of this progressive resort town are considering a longer shopping week, with longer hours each day and longer days each week.

The merchants feel their present hours may be losing them a little business, as they have noticed several tourists trying to get into their shops during the lunch hour closing, which is from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

However, on the other hand, the merchants feel that if they remained open longer hours they might sell more goods. This would leave large holes on the display shelves, and lead to them having to buy more goods from the wholesalers.

Buying more goods, they feel, would lead to costing them money for the goods, and they are not sure this would be a good thing.

As the matter stands now, the progressive merchants have decided to wait until the off-season, like, when they have more time to think it over.

WOBBLE HILL, V.I.—Serious strike threats have so far failed to threaten Wobble Hill, despite the serious strike threats which are threatening other parts of B.C.

However, Lem, the hired man down to the old Perkins Farm, said he was considering stopping work but when Mr. Perkins asked who could tell the difference Lem gave it up.

So it looks as if Wobble Hill will continue to not have a strike.

LUNCHVILLE, V.I.—Accustomed though it is to entertaining celebrities during the tourist season, Lunchville is all agog this week over the presence of one of Hollywood's brightest stars, Miss Gwladys Gutzenheimer.

All those who have seen Round the World in 80 Days are aware of the brilliance of Miss Gutzenheimer's performance.

Although she did not actually appear on the screen herself, her role was vitally important.

Miss Gutzenheimer tore the leaves off the calendar pad to indicate passage of time.

Welcome to Lunchville, Miss Gutzenheimer—or may we call you Gwladys—we are honored by your presence.

Tot's Screams Avert Drowning

Boy Pinned by Log at Water's Edge Saved Before Tide Reaches Him

Desperate screams of five-year-old Reimer Hoffman, 334 Hillside, saved him from drowning in Selkirk Water, near Point Ellice Bridge Sunday morning.

A Canadian National Railways dispatcher at work on the west side of the water heard cries at 10:33, and told police he thought they were coming from the east side, down by the bridge.

Three constables attended and found the tot pinned under a log at the water's edge, where he might have drowned when the tide rose if no one had heard him.

Reimer was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for a possible fractured left knee.

Police said apparently he had been playing with two other small children and they rolled the log down to the water, where Reimer was accidentally trapped.

The other two children ran away when they saw what had happened, but returned after police arrived.

TEXAS QUERY

"Here's one from a lady in Texas. Wants to tour Vancouver Island and asks what kind of clothing she should bring with her."

"You wouldn't believe it... in spite of all the advertising we do some people in the southern States still think of British Columbia as a land of perpetual ice and snow, peopled mainly by Eskimos and Indians."

"Our work is never done. We must continue to spread propaganda about Victoria and Vancouver Island as far as we can go. You never reach saturation point in this business."

MORE LETTERS

Mr. Warren reports that during June he received 987 individual enquiries from would-be visitors and settlers compared with 569 in June last year.

During the first six months of this year the bureau received and answered 4,731 direct inquiries compared with 2,133 in the same period last year.

So far this year, the bureau has sent out nearly 50,000 pieces of mail, including printed leaflets and brochures—an increase of nearly 5,000 on the first six months of 1956.

"We get letters from all over the world," Mr. Warren said, "and an increasing number of them are from people who would like to settle out here."

"Who cares about a little rain now and then?"

WALL HITS CHIEF IN GARAGE FIRE

Fire Chief Frank Briers escaped with only a bump on the head when part of burning garage collapsed on him early Sunday.

He was out in answer to an alarm at 2409 Douglas, where a 1949 model car and frame garage were destroyed at about 3:20 a.m.

Flames were well under way when firemen arrived and as the chief stepped close to direct firefighting, part of the wall fell on him.

Most of the force was taken by the hard helmet worn by the chief, and he was not hurt.

Car owner Vince Leighton told firemen he had probably left a burning cigarette in the car when he drove it into the garage shortly after midnight Saturday.

It burned out the upholstery and heat and burning paint ignited the old frame building, which burned unnoticed for a considerable time.

By PENNY SAVER

More and more travellers are giving up heavy traditional luggage that's such an effort to lug at portless stations and adds so much to flight luggage allowance. I've found a range of suitcases that combines ultra-smartness with ultra-lightness. It's made of sturdy nylon fabric bound in leather-like plastic, in navy or brown, on a reinforced steel frame. The lining is a feature I liked was the opening. Instead of the usual lift-up lid, there's a zipper around three sides of the top.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Dandruff Can Be Dangerous;
Control It at Earliest Stage

While dandruff is not usually a serious disease it can be most annoying and very embarrassing. There are three kinds. There is dry dandruff (the simplest kind), oily dandruff, and the most severe version which is called seborrheic dermatitis.

Practically everyone has dry dandruff at one time or another. The skin is constantly shedding old dead cells as new ones are formed. This is a natural process and is invisible when the process is normal. However, due to illness, extremes in the weather, strains, anaesthetics and other causes sometimes the shedding may become extreme.

Instead of shedding individual cells, large collections may slough off at once so that they are noticeable to the naked eye. Thus you have dry dandruff.

If the secretion of oil is excessive, the dead cells may mass together and adhere to the scalp. This is a bad situation because it provides such a perfect setting for the growth of bacteria. When this occurs treatment by a skin specialist is usually required.

The three factors governing dandruff are the amount of oil, rate of scaling, and infection. As you can readily see, it is important to catch dandruff in its earliest and simplest stage—dry dandruff.

In the past, many treatments have been used and many of them have been discarded. At best they only brought relief for very short periods. Sulphur was perhaps the most effective. It has strong anti-bacterial properties and controls the rate of shedding to some degree.

Naturally, shampoos are important in removing loose scales and oil and dirt; also some of the shampoos fight bacteria. Great strides have been made recently. There are products which control dry and oily dandruff, after several applications, for from four weeks to four months. You apply this before shampooing the hair.

Many simple defects of skin and scalp develop into more serious ones with neglect. If you would like to have my leaflet "Your Outer Coating" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 47 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

On Etiquette

California Style Salad Dressing: I grew up in California where we serve our salad as the first course. My new acquaintances where I now live tell me this is a pleasant custom. Am I wrong?

Louise Davis Answers:

No, indeed, you aren't wrong. I agree that it is a very pleasant custom and wish it were more prevalent. This California system has its excellent points, and can be a boon to hostesses, especially in a maidless home. I see no reason why it shouldn't be done. How hospitable and appetizing it looks to approach a dinner table and find a salad already at each place. And how bare it looks with nothing but the flat silver, glasses and butter plates, even though the ready-to-serve roast and hot vegetables may be there. Some hostesses eliminate soup and other appetizers, such as fruit cup or juice, even for company, so what could be nicer than a salad for a first course? If the main course is in the kitchen, hot and ready to bring to the table, the hostess finds that excusing herself during the salad course can be simpler than at other times. You will notice in many restaurants where a salad is on the order, that it is brought to the table almost immediately, before the meat and vegetables are served. And you will notice that most people begin to eat it right away, thus whetting their appetites for what's to come, rather than sit and look at an empty table.

Rose-Gowned Attendants
At Sacred Heart Wedding

A trio of attendants in rose-colored gowns came down the aisle of Sacred Heart Church with Sylvia Gail Scharbach at her recent wedding to Allen Grant Morley. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Scharbach, 821 Ralph Street, and her groom is son of Mrs. A. Morley, 821 Princess Avenue. Gladioli, stocks and hydrangeas decorated the church for the ceremony conducted by Rev. Father J. Planeta. Organ music was played by Miss D. Gubbels.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a traditional gown of rich brocade satin, floor length, embroidered with seed pearls and mother-of-pearl sequins. A tiara of seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. As she left the church she was presented with a good luck horseshoe of white carnations by Mrs. J. Moody.

The gowns worn by the attendants, Mrs. Dolores Stuart, matron of honor, and Misses Della Scharbach and Frances Magee, bridesmaids, were ballerina length. They carried Esther Reid daisies. Best man was Wilfred Morley, and ushers were Wayne and Brian Scharbach.

A reception was held at Olde England Inn, where H. Scharbach proposed the toast to his niece.

For a honeymoon up-Island, the bride wore a beige suit with white accessories and orchid corsage. The couple will live at 4278 Glanford Avenue.

Darnell-Carlow Rites
On Saturday Evening

At a ceremony Saturday evening in St. Barnabas' Church, Beverly Alice Amelia Carlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Carlow, Maquinna Street, and Robert Conrad Darnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Paquin, Somerset Street, exchanged marriage vows.

Traditional organ music was played as the bride walked up the aisle in a silver-white satin princess style gown. She wore white satin pumps, a crown headpiece with shoulder-length veil, and a small pearl choker necklace with button earrings. Her colonial bouquet was of white carnations and pink roses. The church was decorated in the same tones, with pink carnations and large green ferns, and white satin bows marking the pews.

Rev. Thomas Bailey officiated.

Miss Frances Dallin, maid of honor, Miss Melvina Purser, junior bridesmaid, and flower girls Eleanor Darnell and Susan Blake, nieces of the groom, wore short apple green lace dresses in princess style, white feather headbands, and matching green lace gloves. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and green ribbons.

The bride's mother wore a princess style aqua lace gown with an aqua hat, and pink accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations and rosebuds. The groom's mother, Mrs. A. E. Paquin, was in a rose lace sheath dress, pink gloves and hat, and patent shoes and purse. She also wore a pink carnation and rosebud corsage.

Doug Mills was best man, and Rick Darnell and Russell Coleman, brother and cousin of the groom, were ushers.

A three-tier wedding cake covered with pink iced roses and silver leaves and topped with white satin bell, centred the bride's table at a reception at the Golden Slipper ballroom. Uncle of the new Mrs. Robert Darnell, John D. Carlow, proposed the toast to the bride.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. M. I. McIlmoyl, and Mr. and Mrs. D. McCulloch of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. L. Inwood, Edmonton, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Galloway, Winnipeg, Man., and Mrs. George Taylor, Santa Barbara, California.

The bride had a pink and white fleck sheath suit with maribou collar, and matching pink hat, gloves, shoes and purse for her travelling costume. She wore a corsage of white carnations and pink rosebuds. After their honeymoon in San Francisco, the couple will reside in the Birchwood Apartments, Suite No. 5, 1334 Pandora Avenue, Victoria.

Kitty Dixon, right, and Ruth Champion, were gay and excited at beginning of the all-night rehearsal of "Where's Charley." They admired each other's costumes and assisted each other in last-minute primping. Kitty has the second feminine lead in the show.

Night Long TUTS Rehearsal Gives Onlooker a Peep Behind the Scenes

By ELIZABETH FORBES

A-a-a-r-umph! (That's me yawning!) I've just sat in on the all-night dress rehearsal of "Where's Charley," a Theatre Under The Stars show that opens for a two-week run in Vancouver's Malkin Bowl tonight.

Victoria has special interest in this TUTS production, for Kitty Dixon and Ruth Champion, talented young singers from this city, are in the cast. There you have the two reasons why I was sitting in on the preview.

Rehearsal was called for 9 p.m. Sunday. Just before that time you could see young girls in pedal pushers and sweaters, their hair swept back in pony tails, and young men in faded blues and pullovers, strolling in two and threes toward the dressing rooms under the stage. First stop was at the costume room. Many were seeing these clothes for the first time and there were shrieks of delight as the shining silks and satins in every color of the rainbow were touched and admired.

"On Saturday they were still making them," Kitty Dixon told me. "Why, I was only measured for my ball gown then and look—here it is. Isn't it beautiful?"

Kit is sharing a dressing room with glamorous Doris Buckingham, wife of the TUTS producer, she takes the part of Charley's real aunt from Brazil in the show.

"It's wonderful," Kit told me. "I'm the luckiest girl!"

song heralded the entrance of the chorus of men students in cap and gown and girls in red and white majorette and gypsy costumes. Pretty Ruth Champion was among them.

The first act seemed to be off to a good start, but not as far as Jimmy and Aida were concerned.

The action was stopped; dance steps were repeated; dialogue was gone over, again and again. Experiments were made with color spots from deep pinks to cool blues and seductive greens. The directors took it from all angles, near the stage, and far up the aisles while the cast kept their positions. Scene followed scene until finally we came to the end of the first act—a breath-taking South America rumba. It was 2 a.m.

Coffee break was called. Lights went up all around the stage and the cast, in costume and make-up, rushed for the coffee bar, set up behind the stage.

At 2:30 a.m. the deep voice called once more—"on stage." Out front we snuggled down in blankets and rugs to sit out the second act.

It is in this act that the delightful red rose cottillon is sung and danced. I'm still humming the tune—"I'm dancing, I'm dancing" and my feet just won't stop tapping out the rhythm.

Over and Over

Three o'clock, and the young actors and actresses were beginning to snatch cat-naps between appearances; 3:30, and the show appeared to be about to be tucked away for the night. At 3:45, Aida Broadbent decided to try a different grouping in the final ballroom scene. The result was another half hour of trying out lights, going over dance steps, dialogue. Over and over again.

Somewhere between 4 and 5 a.m. a halt was called. The cast was briefed to be back at 3 p.m. today for a final "sharpening up." They will remain in costume, have a snack at the coffee bar and be ready and waiting at curtain time.

What is the plot of "Where's Charley?" In the words of the night watchman at Malkin Bowl, "It's just 'Charley's Aunt' dolled up with some good songs and snappy dances. People have been laughing at that show for years, and believe you me, they're going to laugh again." He should know, for he is Chet Furman, former Victorian, who played in "Charley's Aunt" with Victoria West Amateur Dramatic Club in the old Sample's Hall, nearly 40 years ago.

Pattern Comes Out of Confusion

To the average onlooker the scene behind stage was one of complete confusion, as members of the chorus chattered and joked; prop men swished back and forth; electricians hammered; carpenters banged and managers rushed in and rushed right out again.

Gradually, however, when the last costume was handed out and the cast retired to dressing rooms, the babel of voices dropped.

The wardrobe mistress ran a nervous hand over her face—"Guess I'll have a cigarette," she breathed, with a sigh of relief.

After the show her work started all over again when the costumes were returned. With two assistants she had to get them on hangers and in to their proper sequence—ready for tonight's opening.

Jimmy Johnson, the dialogue director strolled out from the dressing rooms; Aida Broadbent, choreographer and dance director dashed through the outer gate explaining in her clear, high-pitched voice that her plane from Seattle had been delayed two hours.

A deep voice behind scene shouted "on stage"—and the first act was ready to go. It was 11 p.m.

Within minutes of the opening, Kitty Dixon (her name is Kitty in the play, too) and Betty Oakes, who takes the feminine lead of Amy, Charley's girl friend, appeared on stage.

It was a very different Kitty I was seeing to the one I had known in Victoria. Here was a glamorous, seductive young miss, radiant in the costumes of a dainty society girl of the gay nineties. She sang, she acted and she danced as if she were loving every minute of it.

Quickly the scene changed and the rhythm of a marching

THIEVES HAVE THE CAKE BUT THEY CAN'T EAT IT

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Oakville's nine-layer, five-foot-square birthday cake survived week of centennial celebrations, but fell prey to thieves early Sunday.

They broke into the Oakville Arena and took the top four layers of the cake. Police said that if the crime was motivated by hunger, the thieves won't find the cake particularly appetizing.

The ingredients comprised sheets of plywood covered with icing.

Mammoth Parade Opens Stampede

CALGARY (CP)—Indians, chuckwagons, cowboys and long floats combined in a mammoth parade today to set Calgary off on another of its annual hectic Stampedes.

Stretching several blocks, the 29-band 11-section parade was expected to be watched by more than 100,000 persons, some of whom have crowded into this foothills city from right across North America.

Nearly 350,000 more persons than actually live in the Calgary area during the year will probably jam through the gates to the Stampede grounds for the week-long exhibition and rodeo show. Stampede officials have predicted a record attendance of 335,000.

The long-range prediction is for a week of clear, sunny weather.

Canadian Plays Badly Needed, Says Briton

TORONTO (CP)—Peter Ustinov, British author and actor, says it is time Canada produced some playwrights of her own.

Australia has a play running in London and he could see no reason why Canada shouldn't have, he said Sunday.

"You have all the cosmopolitan advantages of the United States and the CBC television productions we have seen in England are of very high calibre."

Mr. Ustinov said it is easy for a young theatre to become overly involved in producing classics like Shakespeare. Shakespeare is fine, he said, but it is cold in his shadow and that shadow is getting longer and longer.

Mr. Ustinov was in Toronto to appear on a television program. He and his wife, the former Canadian actress, Suzanne Cloutier, are visiting Mrs. Ustinov's family in Ottawa.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Dorothy Strode, age 13, of Peterborough, Ont., for her question:

How are coral reefs made?

A coral reef is a sea city. It is made of sturdy apartment houses, jammed together and piled one upon another. The city stands on the floor of the ocean and each one builds the miles, until it breaks the surface of the water. It has been millions of years building. And all the building was done by small, soft bodied sea creatures. They are the corals, small cousins of the sea anemones who also dwell in these warm oceans. Both corals and sea anemones belong to family Anthozoa, which means flower animals.

The little animals who build the hard, coral houses are soft blobs of gristle called polyps. The body is merely a bag to hold the stomach. One end is a foot, firmly fixed on to a stony floor. At the other end is the mouth, a round hole fringed with waving tentacles. The mouth end of each little animal is a face, poking out from a window in the coral apartment house. Some corals have a star-shaped face, other coral faces are tufts of tentacle fringe. The tentacles grab bits of food floating by in the water. They also fan currents of water into the hollow coral house. In this way streams of water, carrying food and oxygen, are kept flowing to and fro among the polyps that occupy the inner rooms of the apartment house.

So long as there are little coral animals in the water, the building grows and grows. For no coral would dream of occupying a vacant apartment. Each little fellow must build his own and in so doing he adds a small room to the building. Some corals begin life as little swimmers. Others sprout as buds from the side of mother polyps. In any case, each little fellow settles down early in life to build his home, the little house of coral which he will occupy all his life.

The first order of business is to get firmly set. A little swimmer may start a brand new building on a stone at the bottom of the sea. Better still, he may find a spot on an old coral building. The budding coral is most likely to build his house fixed on to the side of his mother's house. The little builder extracts his materials from the minerals in sea water. His body turns them into a special cement which hardens into coral. The floor is built first, then the walls and the roof. He is very careful to leave a window. From here, his mouth and ten-

A moon flight has been depicted with animated cartoons and trick shots in a "science and engineering" newsreel produced by a Moscow studio.

NEW YORK (UP)—Jockey Billy Pearson parlayed his total quiz show winnings to $170,000 Sunday night when he defeated a New York fashion model on "The $64,000 Challenge."

Pearson, of Pasadena, Calif., won $32,000 when he challenged an answer to a renaissance art question given by his opponent, Mrs. Jane Wilson, model, housewife and artist. He then gave the correct answer to the question.

In another match, 11-year-old science whiz Robert Strom, tied at $8,000, with his challenger, David Junchen, 11, of Sherrard, Ill., on a "science" category question on the CBS-TV show. They will return next week to answer questions worth $16,000.

He first arrived here in 1899, when the community was known as Oyster Harbor, to help build coal shipping wharves for Dunsmuir mining interests. He eventually became wharf boss, and held the job until his retirement. Another pioneer resident is William Ambrose Coole, who will be 85 on Tuesday. Mr. Coole, a former stationery engineer, at the Tyne smelter here, went to work in coal mines in the district when the smelter closed in 1909.

Vancouver Tenor Back for Visit; Star on Welk Show
VANCOUVER (CP)—A young Vancouver tenor who has jumped into the glare of big-time U.S. television since last Christmas was back in town for a brief holiday. Maurice Pearson, 23, who appears twice weekly on the Lawrence Welk show from Hollywood, says he doubts if he will ever work in Vancouver again except for "a very brief" guest appearance.

"It's different down there," he said. "American television is purely commercial. Efficiency is the important thing. Besides rehearsals and the Saturday and Monday evening Welk shows, Pearson sings three nights a week with the band at its Aragon ballroom spot, and also puts in hours listening to tape-recordings and records of artists hoping to appear on the show.

DELLA FALLS, in Strathcona Park, plunge 1,443 feet to Drinkwater River, north of Great Central Lake. (Dreany photo.)

Della Falls on Island Plunge 1,443 Feet; Canada's Highest

Highest waterfalls in Canada, Della Falls, only six miles in a straight line from the head of Great Central Lake, cascade 1,443 feet before running into Drinkwater River. They flow out of Della Lake, just within the southern boundary of Strathcona Park, and at the foot of lofty 6,107-foot Big Interior Mountain. Highest individual drop is 400 feet. The falls can be reached by an 11-mile trail from Great Central Lake, and experienced hikers and outdoorsmen recently crossed from Great Central Lake to Butte Lake, by way of the falls, in three days. Route between the two lakes lies to the southwest of the area generally known as the Forbidden Plateau, passing Mount Septimus, 6,400 feet, and the Thelwood Lakes. Both ground and vegetation are Alpine in character.

Big Hauls Recorded At Sooke Fish Traps

SOOKE—Fish traps operated in this district by Sooke Harbor Fishing and Packing Co. are doing a booming business in spring and coho salmon and fair numbers of cod. As a result, about 3,000 sockeye have been turned loose from the traps. Workmen using dip nets scoop them out as the "catch" in each trap is lifted to the surface preparatory to loading aboard refrigerated packers. Traps are lifted twice each week. The last haul netted nearly 11 tons of fish, with eight tons of spring salmon leading the catch. Sockeye salmon, though, are still in lock. According to regulations of the International Salmon Fisheries Commission, all sockeye caught between June 24 and July 22 must be released.

7 Passengers Cost $6,000

NANAIMO (CP)—It has cost the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway $6,000 to move seven passengers between Parksville and Port Alberni, all who have travelled on that line during the first six months of the year. F. H. Britton, company solicitor, reported in his letter to the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada: This forms part of the submission to the board in the company's second application for abandonment of the passenger service. During the first six months of the year, 18 were carried of whom 15 were railway employees. The company contends that extra cost of maintaining this service is about $12,000 a year. The company feels it would be wiser to spend this money improving the freight service to Port Alberni.

TRAWLER IN TROUBLE OFF QUEEN CHARLOTTE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Search and rescue officials here said at noon the tug La Force was nearing the area where a 36-foot trawler was reported filling with water early today.

The Carol O. reported that she was in trouble in Queen Charlotte Sound, 250 miles northwest of here.

The ship's owner and the only man aboard, Tormod Ostby of Burnaby, reported at 5 a.m. that the wheelhouse of the boat had been swept away in a 55-knot wind and the engine room was half full of water.

No report had been received from the Carol O. since that time.

Russ Veto West Plan to Suspend Nuclear Tests

Malenkov Tried Forgery Official Says

(See also Page 3)

MOSCOW (AP)—Former premier Georgi Malenkov was accused today of trying to force a Communist party official to sign a forgery.

This charge came atop other accusations flung at Malenkov in the last two days by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and former president Nikolai Shvernik.

It was made by the man involved, a party official in Leningrad, scene of the notorious "Leningrad Case" of which Khrushchev has called Malenkov the chief organizer.

The alleged coercion attempt took place in Leningrad in 1949 and apparently was part of the case in which several top Communists were illegally executed. Lavrenty P. Beria and Victor Abakumov, one of Beria's main assistants in the Soviet secret police, were subsequently shot for their part in framing the case.

I. N. Turvo charged in a Leningrad speech made public today that Malenkov "persistently endeavored to force me to sign a forgery, a statement I knew was a forgery."

When all Malenkov's efforts failed, Turvo said, "I was threatened and accused of every mortal sin."

"Everything the central committee said about him and his character was correct from beginning to end," Turvo said. "Malenkov was rude and ruthless, a man without honor and conscience."

Turvo charged Malenkov, former foreign minister V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich, former member of the Soviet Union's ruling party presidium, were "intriguers who used the old sectarian methods of dissent in an effort to split the party."

Probe Wheat Charge U.S. Paper Advises

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Washington Post and Times Herald says the United States should be prepared to reduce its tariffs against Canadian imports.

Otherwise, the newspaper says editorially, there is "no alternative for Canada but to go elsewhere for some of its needs."

The Post was commenting on a statement in Ottawa by Prime Minister Diefenbaker that the Canadian government would like to see 15 per cent of its imports from the United States diverted to the United Kingdom.

The newspaper suggested also that Washington should give "thorough consideration" to Diefenbaker's charges that the U.S. is violating the international agreement on tariffs and trade by its "fire sale" disposition of wheat surpluses.

"Washington owes Canada a prompt accounting on this matter as well as a fresh look at the ways in which the trade deficit problem might be overcome with minimum impact upon the large and useful commercial relationship which exists between the two countries," the Post says.

Premier Silent After Special Cabinet Session

By PETER MURRAY

A special meeting of the provincial cabinet was held this morning, hard on the heels of threat by provincial civil servants to walk off their jobs at 7 a.m. Friday if their demands for bargaining rights have not been met.

There was no hint what was discussed at the cabinet meeting, which lasted only five minutes.

"I have no comment to make this morning," Premier Bennett said on leaving the meeting.

Other ministers also were non-committal.

There was no indication that the government has decided to soften the firm stand it has taken against the civil servants' demands, despite the setting of a strike deadline.

The B.C. Government Employees' Association, representing 11,600 of the province's 14,000 civil servants, fixed the strike deadline at a 10-hour executive meeting in Vancouver Sunday.

It is believed the first time any government civil service has set a strike deadline.

RONALD SHRIVE
... wandered away.

Arbitration Now Main Issue

The dispute has boiled down now to one fundamental issue—arbitration.

The association says that the strike will be called off if the government agrees to the creation of a permanent impartial bargaining board.

It would let this board rule on the civil servants' present demand for a 13 per cent overall average wage increase.

The association has asked that the board be made up of one representative from the government and one from the association, with a Supreme Court Justice as chairman.

In a telegram to Premier Bennett Sunday the association suggested Chief Justice Gordon Sloan as the best person to head the board.

The government previously rejected the arbitration proposal, on the grounds that such a procedure would abrogate the rights of the legislature.

The association replied Sunday it feels the government would be "morally obliged" to accept the recommendations of the board, but could still submit them to the Legislature for approval.

Other points made by the association in its telegram to Premier Bennett:

1. The executive is ready to meet "at a moment's notice" to try and avert the walkout.
2. Civil servants are prepared to maintain essential services during a strike on a voluntary basis if requested by the government.
3. No settlement can be reached unless the government assures there will be no discrimination against civil servants who support the association's actions.

Saanich Tot Drowns Near Sidney

A three-year-old Saanich child drowned Sunday evening at Canoe Cove in a tragic sequel to a family outing on the water.

Victim was Ronald Shrive, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shrive, 1266 Reynolds Road.

According to Sidney RCMP, the child accompanied his mother to the family car on their return from a picnic trip aboard their boat, leaving Mr. Shrive at the boat.

It is believed he wandered back to the boat to see what his father was doing.

6 FEET OF WATER

When 15 minutes went by and there was no sign of the lad, the family started to search.

He was found by W. J. Snider, 3930 Blenkinsop Road, a friend of the Shrive family, who saw him in six feet of water, dived in immediately and brought him to the surface.

North Saanich Volunteer Fire Department inhalator crew and the Rest Haven Hospital ambulance and resuscitator attended, and two RCMP constables alternated in giving artificial respiration, but after two hours Dr. R. Neufeld of Sidney pronounced him dead.

NEAR GANGWAY

The lad was found beside a gangway leading from shore to floats at the extensive moorings in the cove. It is believed he went off on his own at about 7:15 p.m.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, said today there would be no inquest.

Besides his parents, the child is survived by a sister of 10 years, and two brothers, aged one and six years.

Funeral services will be announced later by Hayward's.

Death Toll High During Weekend In Canada, U.S.

By The Canadian Press

Traffic accidents took 35 of 63 accidental deaths across Canada during the weekend.

Of 28 deaths in Ontario, 16 were in traffic. Quebec recorded 14 violent deaths, seven in traffic accidents. Six persons were drowned in Quebec while Ontario recorded nine drownings.

Four of Alberta's six victims were killed on the highways. Nova Scotia reported four fatalities, Saskatchewan three, New Brunswick two, and Manitoba one.

DEATH TOLLS

More than 700 persons were killed in the United States in violent accidents during the long Independence Day holiday period. Traffic deaths, although far below the predicted 535, led the staggering toll.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father, we thank Thee for the splendor and joy of these long summer days. On the farm help us to use them to reap a harvest for the long winter. And give us summer in our souls, that we shall lay up a reserve of inner strength on which we can draw when the winter of trouble hits us like a blizzard; in the name of Christ. Amen.

Fisherman Strike Now Depends On Settlement by Shoreworkers

The Fisheries Association of British Columbia announced Saturday night that the striking United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) has accepted new salmon prices for the 1957 season.

But an end to the west coast salmon fishermen's strike, which has been in effect since the season opened June 22, still depends on settlement of a shoreworkers' dispute.

The union leaders had recommended rejection of increased salmon prices sought by cannery operators but the membership voted to accept them.

Union officials could not be reached immediately for details of the voting.

Meanwhile, loggers and millworkers on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland are voting on settlement terms offered Friday morning by employers, barely in time to avert a strike by 34,000 men in the timber industry.

Results will not be complete for a week or 10 days, but there are indications that the rank and file of the International Woodworkers of America, bargaining agent for the timber workers, will approve the 7½ per cent wage boost, modified union shop, and increased holiday pay offered by operators.

Victoria district members voted mainly in the affirmative Sunday, according to Jack MacKenzie, local president. Results must go to union headquarters in Vancouver for tabulation and news release, he said, but he added that the settlement won the approval of a "large majority" here.

JUSTICE DIES

Mr. Justice Henry G. Nolan of the Supreme Court of Canada died today at his summer home in Banff. His death was attributed to a heart attack. He was associate prosecutor for the tribunal trying war criminals in the Far East.

U.K. Unions Sound Wage Hike Warning

TORQUAY, England (Reuters)—Britain's most powerful trade union told the government at the opening of its annual conference here today that rising prices and profits would lead to further wage demands.

Edgar E. Fryer, chairman, told 900 delegates representing the 1,300,000 members of the Transport and General Workers' Union.

"Whilst prices and profits remain uncontrolled we are determined to take such steps as are open to us industrially to ensure that wages keep pace with rising costs."

5,000 Watch Death Plunge

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—A NATO instructor from the RCAF station at Moose Jaw, Sask., plunged to his death Sunday before 5,000 horrified persons as his parachute failed to open during a demonstration jump south of here.

Killed Boy, Used Skull For Potion

VINELAND, N.J. (AP)—A farm laborer today was charged with murdering a 13-year-old boy last October, allegedly to use the lad's skull in a "black magic" formula to make a love potion.

Director of public safety Arthur L. Joseph said Juan Rivera Aponte, 47, had signed a statement confessing that he killed Roger Carletto October 13.

Joseph said Aponte told police he has been studying black magic and needed a human skull to dry and make into dust for use in a potion enabling him to cast spells on women.

5 Die in B.C. Accidents On Weekend

By Canadian Press

Five persons died accidentally in B.C. during the weekend. Two were traffic accidents and one was a drowning. A fourth victim suffocated under two feet of muck at a mine and the fifth was struck by a train.

The Queen Charlotte Islands had their first traffic fatality when a car believed driven by Maxwell Anderson, 16, overturned and burned.

Walter Chaster, 52, of North Surrey, was killed when the truck he was driving in went out of control on the Cariboo Highway.

Matthew Henderson, 24-year-old University of B.C. graduate was suffocated when he was buried in two feet of muck at Britannia copper mines.

Dr. George Frederick Barton, 49, of Chilliwack, drowned Sunday in Paul Lake, near Kamloops.

An unidentified man was killed when struck by a CNR passenger train three miles east of Port Mann.

The victim was FO Ronald Glenow, 28, of Yorkton, who jumped from a private plane in an attempted delayed opening jump. His body landed in an open field about one-half mile west of York Lake, four miles south of here, scene of the Kinsmen Club's annual regatta.

FO Glenow had travelled here to visit relatives while on a weekend pass from Moose Jaw. A jet pilot, he re-enlisted in the air force two years ago and was a member of the para-rescue force. It was his 74th jump since he joined the force in 1947.

NEW 'CHUTES

A friend of the pilot said that shortly before going up FO Glenow told him that he was using a new 28-foot parachute with a 24-foot emergency parachute, which he had just purchased. He said that he had packed the parachutes himself.

Austin Ingham, manager of the Yorkton Flying Services, who piloted the plane, said he had climbed to about 3,000 feet.

"I've no idea what happened," he said. "He got clear of the plane and seemed okay."

Mr. Ingham said they had been in the air for a few minutes and had tested the wind, which was about 30 m.p.h. from the north-west.

FAILED TO OPEN

Archie Fraser of Yorkton, one of the first men to reach the scene, said he had been watching through field glasses and said that the parachute failed to open.

At first an announcement over a loudspeaker system at the lake said the object was a dummy dropped to test the wind. A few minutes later the crowd was told the airman had been killed.

The exhibition was the final event of the day's program.

The airman's father, who farms in the Yorkton district, was in the crowd but left just before the accident.

Glenow's wife died in 1948. He is survived by his parents, a brother and two children.

Civil Servants

employees who are not members of the association, another 1,000 members of the association voted against strike action in a ballot last month.

Others are fearful of their livelihood, following a government order distributed to finance department branch heads last week warning employees that they would be considered to have resigned if they go on strike.

So far this ultimatum has gone only to the finance department. It was signed by W. F. Veitch, assistant deputy minister.

Association officials presumed the threat was meant to apply to all civil servants and employees in other departments would be receiving similar warnings. None had been received today however.

Mr. Wismer said the CCL would do "everything we possibly can" to help the civil servants settle the dispute before Friday, and during the strike if it is ordered.

Details of what form the support will take have not yet been worked out, he said. The association has no direct affiliation with organized labor, but has plans to consider such a step at its fall convention.

Emergency services the association has agreed to maintain during a strike include prisons, mental hospitals and forest service fire protection operations.

In its offer to meet with Premier Bennett to discuss the crisis, the association made no conditions.

It was reported Saturday that the executive would demand that the "strike and you'll be fired" order be withdrawn before the meeting could take place.

This was not included in the telegram to the premier, however.

Deane Finlayson, provincial Progressive Conservative leader, today urged the government to withdraw its threat to fire any civil servants who go on strike.

"Such threats belong to the dark ages," Mr. Finlayson said. "They will certainly not make for an early solution to the dispute between the civil servants and the government."

Hanna Skips Drunkenness Court Trial

VANCOUVER (CP)—The lawyer for George Christian Hanna said today the 24-year-old "man without a country" will not appear in police court on a charge of drunkenness.

Hanna was arrested here Saturday, charged with being intoxicated in a public, and released on $10 bail.

Lawyer John Taylor, Conservative M.P. elect, said Hanna got on a train Sunday night "for an undisclosed destination" in the British Columbia interior.

Mr. Taylor said friends have found Hanna a job there. "We're trying to keep Hanna's new residence a secret," Mr. Taylor said. "We hope he will now just fade from the public eye."

Hanna listed his birthplace on police records as "at sea."

Mr. Taylor said today Hanna's new conflict with authority would undoubtedly weigh against him in the eyes of the new Conservative Immigration Minister David Fulton.

"He is still in Canada on good behavior," he pointed out. "This will definitely have an effect."

Gang Car Drags Boy To Death

HOBART, Ind. (AP)—A teenage "gang war" ended when a 17-year-old boy was dragged to his death under the car of a rival group Saturday.

Police in this northwest Indiana city said Larry Blair was dragged for a block under a car filled with young boys that sped out of a drive-in restaurant parking lot.

Five of Blair's companions were held for questioning, and police were searching for the boys in the death car.

Authorities said the "war" began at a dance Friday night in nearby Portage, where one member of Blair's gang fought with a youth in a rival faction.

The other boy, police said, picked up five friends and chased the Blair car to Hobart, "playing tag" by bumping the two vehicles together on the busy highway.

Police said Blair's gang got out and tried to enter the other automobile when they reached the drive-in parking lot, but the other six youths locked the doors and rolled up the windows.

Blair was standing in front of the vehicle when it suddenly started up, knocking him down and dragging him away as it sped off.

Feud Over Peron Leads to Closing 2 South American Embassies

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina and Venezuela closed their embassies in each other's capitals today in a feud over ousted dictator Juan D. Peron's activities in Venezuela.

Increasingly bitter exchanges build up over a week to the open break in relations between the two countries, located at opposite ends of the South American continent.

The Argentine ambassador to Caracas said on his way home that the Venezuelan government had begun a mass roundup of Argentines in Caracas opposed to Peron.

Argentina charged Venezuela was permitting Peron to mastermind a campaign of subversion and terror against provisional president Pedro Aramburu's government from his exile in Caracas. Aramburu charged Peron and his followers have "woven a tremendous intrigue around Venezuelan authorities."

Venezuela alleged Argentine agents had plotted to kill political refugees in that country.

Argentine Foreign Minister Alfonso de LaFerrere announced that diplomatic relations with Venezuela had been "interrupted" rather than broken off. Diplomatic experts said the use of that word indicates relations could be resumed quickly if Peron should leave Venezuela or if his activities were restricted.

A rash of bombings in Buenos Aires has been blamed by the government on Peron followers seeking to prepare for his return to power. A small bomb blew up under a car Sunday night in Buenos Aires, doing little damage. Authorities said they found a terrorist "bomb factory" Saturday night after an accidental explosion in a house.

Ski Race Across Strait Proposed

Elderly Pair Brush Death In Rolling Car

Hit-Run Driver Sought in Saanich

Saanich police are still seeking a hit-run car which flipped an elderly couple's small car Saturday night on Trans-Canada Highway at Admirals Road.

The English sedan driven by 80-year-old William George Bird accompanied by his wife Florence, 70, of 566 Gorge West, turned over three or four times, but neither was injured seriously.

Police said the Bird car was proceeding north across the highway after stopping for a stop sign on Admirals at about 8:25 p.m.

The other car, east-bound on the highway, apparently caught the rear of the Bird vehicle before it cleared the highway, sending it out of control and turning it over.

SPED AWAY
The hit-run driver slowed but did not stop, then sped away.

Mrs. Bird was taken to Jubilee Hospital with a fractured left finger and bruises.

Her husband was shaken up, but unharmed.

Mrs. Anna Galbraith, 61, Qualicum Beach, received a head cut and was discharged at St. Joseph's Hospital at 10:30 p.m. Saturday after the car in which she was riding was in a minor collision at Burnside and Trans-Canada.

James Ross, seven, 467 Fraser, was admitted at St. Joseph's with a left leg injury and abrasions after the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a car on Lyall near South Joffre Sunday at 12:20 p.m.

Esquimalt police said driver of the auto was Roy Bendall, 1106 Hilda.

Langford Skiers Pounded In Juan de Fuca Crossing

A four-man attempt at a two-way water-ski crossing of Juan de Fuca Strait Sunday was partially successful; cost nearly $100; and may lead to a race sponsored by the Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The four Langford men—Cliff Johnson, Don Lowe, Knute Johnson and Neal Smith—aimed to ski from Victoria to the U.S. shore, rest for an hour, then make the return trip, being towed in pairs.

Cliff and Don made it from this side in one hour and nine minutes; Knute and Neal took an even hour for the return trip.

They were the first to try and first to conquer the strait on skis.

The attempt was beset with nasty weather and bad luck, but the attention it drew in Port Angeles is almost certain to lead to a cash prize for a cross-strait race.

"We have $100 put up by a member for a water-ski competition," a spokesman for the Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce said today. "The attempt of the Victoria men Sunday is enough to touch off action."

Ground Swells Dumped Them

After bad weather washed out a scheduled Saturday attempt, the four skiers started out at 7 a.m. Sunday.

Half way across the strait the ground swells became heavy. Shortly after, bad luck took over, and one by one the skiers "dumped" in rough seas.

Last to go was Cliff Johnson, about 4 miles from Port Angeles.

One of the tow boats, which travel at about 20 knots, took a heavy pounding.

Don Lowe said: "Our toes were numb before we cleared Victoria harbor."

Travelling at 25 miles per hour, legs heavily greased and wearing large navy-type life jackets, the skiers were beset also with cramps.

A cramp in one of Lowe's hands and grease on the towing bar cost him a spill.

But it was heavy weather that really finished the first crossing.

"We were jumping six-foot waves. The boat towing us was leaping right out of the water," he stated. "The waves seemed to be coming from two directions."

Most tiring effect was that caused by staring at the rushing water for such a long time, he said.

The four men, accompanied by a guide boat, returned to Victoria and started a second attempt at 11:55 a.m. Although the boats were fairly close together, starting at about 200 yards apart, they lost sight of each other in heavy swells.

Crack in Bottom of Boat

The boat towing Knute and Neal had to pull up with a crack in the bottom. Their tow lines were transferred to the guide boat, but it did not have sufficient power to tow above 10 knots, and the two were pulled into the boat.

Meanwhile Cliff and Don were towed successfully to Port Angeles, where they were joined by the unsuccessful skiers.

On instruction of U.S. immigration authorities in Victoria, the skiers and pilots waited by their boats while one man phoned the immigration office.

"We waited until 3:20 p.m. and thought they weren't coming, so we sent the pilots to the Black Ball Wharf to make enquiries. They were told to wait by the boats until we were ready."

An official finally arrived and told the foursome they would be required to pay $44.50

which represented his overtime pay. One of the boat pilots, Elmo Johnson, had to stay behind to fill out forms and pay over the money at the immigration office. He was detained until 5:15 p.m. and had to return on the Black Ball ferry.

With only one tow boat fast enough to make the crossing, it was decided to give Knute and Neal the chance to make it back to Victoria. They left Port Angeles at 3:45 p.m.

In addition to the customs overtime cost, the men will have to pay for repairs to the boat, and one man's fare back from Port Angeles.

Don Lowe today estimated total cost of the expedition at between $80 and $100.

"If the Port Angeles Chamber puts up a cash prize, we'll certainly be after it," he said.

Reeve Ash Presses Amalgamation Vote

Notice of motion to ask Saanich ratepayers if they want a study of amalgamation of urban Saanich with the city of Victoria will be made tonight by Reeve Arthur Ash.

The much-debated question likely will be discussed at length by Saanich council Tuesday night at an expected extension of tonight's regular meeting, already set for a 65-item agenda.

In the past, tentative discussions on the subject have resulted in verbal free-for-alls in Saanich council and on public platforms.

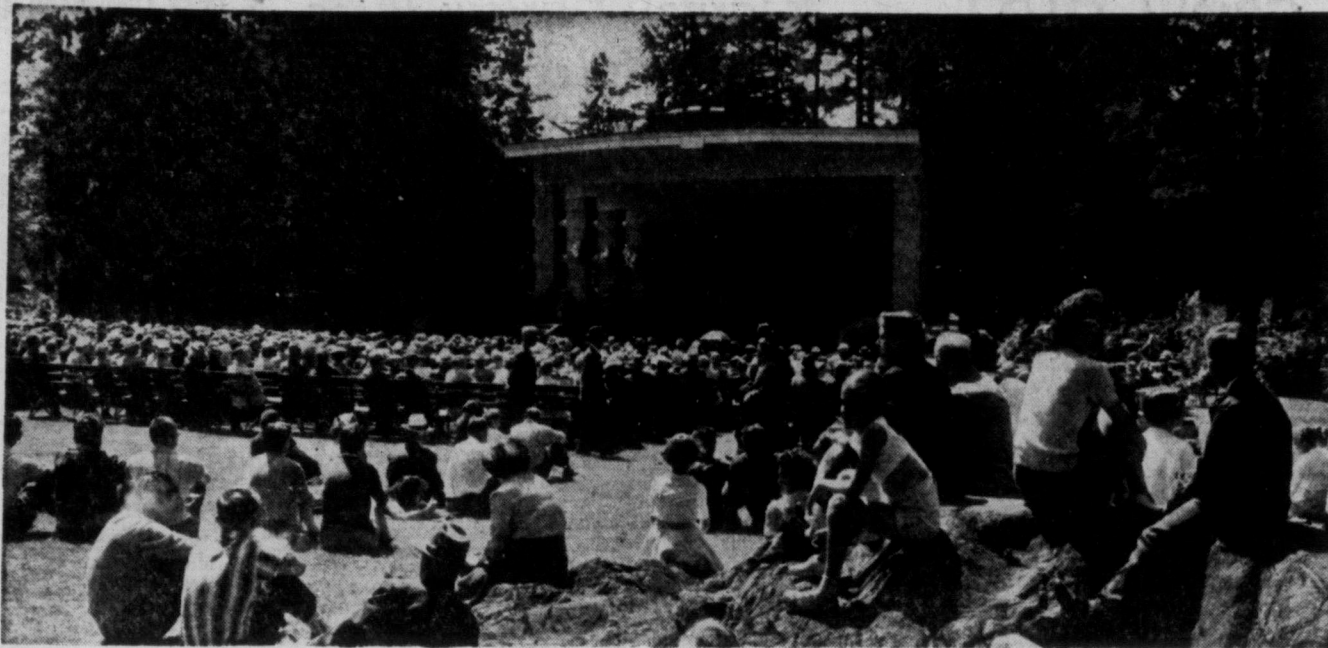

Reeve Ash is Greater Victoria's most outspoken advocate for amalgamation, but members of his council have consistently spoken against the idea or any attempt to pursue a study of it.

The reeve said today his resolution would call for a referendum at the annual elections in December, asking in words to this effect:

"Do you favor a full investigation and report into the possibility of amalgamation of the urban section of Saanich with the city of Victoria, the decision and report or recommendation to receive final approval of the ratepayers?"

Coun. Leslie Passmore recently stated any such referendum should call for a straight "yes" or "no" in answer to the question "Do you favor amalgamation?"

Mr. Ash has said this would be tantamount to asking a non-swimmer to jump into a lake without knowing how deep the water is.

OPEN AIR CONCERT SEASON UNDER WAY

Scores of Victorians leaned back and relaxed at Beacon Hill Park Sunday as the sun beamed down on the first in a series of open-air band concerts sponsored weekly by the B.C. Electric Co. Concert season will continue at The Butchart Gardens next Thursday at 8:15 p.m. when the Victoria Symphony Orchestra will make its summer debut with a program of semi-classical and popular music.

MONTE ROBERTS

OUR VERY OWN ISLAND DIGEST
(Writ by hand by Our Very Own Island correspondents.)

WALLOPEM BEACH, V.I.—The progressive merchants of this progressive resort town are considering a longer shopping week, with longer hours each day and longer days each week.

The merchants feel their present hours may be losing them a little business, as they have noticed several tourists trying to get into their shops during the lunch hour closing, which is from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

However, on the other hand, the merchants feel that if they remained open longer hours they might sell more goods. This would leave large holes on the display shelves, and lead to them having to buy more goods from the wholesalers.

Buying more goods, they feel, would lead to costing them money for the goods, and they are not sure this would be a good thing.

As the matter stands now, the progressive merchants have decided to wait until the off-season, like, when they have more time to think it over.

WOBBLE HILL, V.I.—Serious strike threats have so far failed to threaten Wobble Hill, despite the serious strike threats which are threatening other parts of B.C.

However, Lem, the hired man down to the old Perkins Farm, said he was considering stopping work but when Mr. Perkins asked who could tell the difference Lem gave it up.

So it looks as if Wobble Hill will continue to not have a strike.

LUNCHVILLE, V.I.—Accustomed though it is to entertaining celebrities during the tourist season, Lunchville is all agog this week over the presence of one of Hollywood's brightest stars, Miss Gwendolyn Gutzeneimer.

All those who have seen Round the World in 80 Days are aware of the brilliance of Miss Gutzeneimer's performance.

Although she did not actually appear on the screen herself, her role was vitally important.

Miss Gutzeneimer tore the leaves off the calendar pad to indicate passage of time.

Welcome to Lunchville, Miss Gutzeneimer—or may we call you Gladys—we are honored by your presence.

GEORGE WARREN
... who cares?

POSTMAN ALWAYS KNOCKS ...

Tourists on the Go, Wet Weather or No

By NORMAN CRIBENS

Undismayed by wet drizzle outside, publicity commissioner George Warren plowed merrily through his morning mail today, fairly chirping with delight at inquiries from tourists far and wide.

"Look at this," he exclaimed. "Here's a letter from a man in Milwaukee—what sort of weather can I expect in Victoria in August?"

No doubt Mr. Warren's bureau will tell him what to expect. What he will get may be another matter.

Mr. Warren confesses that he tells tourists to expect dry, sunny weather in July. Today, of course, is one of those rare exceptions.

But having devoted most of his life to advertising Victoria's climatic charms, ebullient Mr. Warren isn't dismayed by a little rain.

"This won't last long," he said philosophically, slicing open another letter.

TEXAS QUERY
"Here's one from a lady in Texas. Wants to tour Vancouver Island and asks what kind of clothing she should bring with her."

"You wouldn't believe it... in spite of all the advertising we do, some people in the southern States still think of British Columbia as a land of perpetual ice and snow, peopled mainly by Eskimos and Indians."

"Our work is never done. We must continue to spread propaganda about Victoria and Vancouver Island as far as we can go. You never reach saturation point in this business."

MORE LETTERS
Mr. Warren reports that during June he received 987 individual enquiries from would-be visitors and settlers compared with 569 in June last year.

During the first six months of this year the bureau received and answered 4,731 direct inquiries compared with 2,133 in the same period last year.

So far this year, the bureau has sent out nearly 50,000 pieces of mail, including printed leaflets and brochures—an increase of nearly 5,000 on the first six months of 1956.

"We get letters from all over the world," Mr. Warren said, "and an increasing number of them are from people who would like to settle out here."

"Who cares about a little rain now and then?"

Wall Hits Chief In Garage Fire

Fire Chief Frank Briers escaped with only a bump on the head when part of burning garage collapsed on him early Sunday.

He was out in answer to an alarm at 2409 Douglas, where a 1949 model car and frame garage were destroyed at about 3:20 a.m.

Flames were well under way when firemen arrived and as the chief stepped close to direct firefighting, part of the wall fell on him.

Most of the force was taken by the hard helmet worn by the chief, and he was not hurt. Car owner Vince Leighton told firemen he had probably left a burning cigarette in the car when he drove it into the garage shortly after midnight Saturday.

It burned out the upholstery and heat and burning paint ignited the old frame building, which burned unnoticed for a considerable time.

CAR DESTROYED IN BLAZE

Fire-seared car is all that remained standing after a blaze whipped through a garage at 2409 Douglas Sunday. Wooden building was burned up completely and the car was considered a total loss except for one tire.—(Times photo)

Nylon Fabric Fashions
Easy-to-Carry Suitcases

By PENNY SAVER

More and more travellers are giving up heavy traditional luggage that's such an effort to lug at porters' stations and adds so much to flight luggage allowance. I've found a range of suitcases that combines ultra-smartness with ultra-lightness. It's made of sturdy nylon fabric bound in leather-like plastic, in navy or brown, on a reinforced steel frame. The lining is nylon, too, and there are removable plastic pockets.

A feature I liked was the opening. Instead of the usual lift-up lid, there's a zipper around three sides of the top,

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Dandruff Can Be Dangerous;
Control It at Earliest Stage

While dandruff is not usually a serious disease it can be most annoying and very embarrassing. There are three kinds. There is dry dandruff (the simplest kind), oily dandruff, and the most severe version which is called seborrheic dermatitis.

Practically everyone has dry dandruff at one time or another. The skin is constantly shedding old dead cells as new ones are formed. This is a natural process and is invisible when the process is normal. However, due to illness, extremes in the weather, strains, anaesthetics and other causes sometimes the shedding may become extreme.

Instead of shedding individual cells, large collections may slough off at once so that they are noticeable to the naked eye. Thus you have dry dandruff.

If the secretion of oil is excessive, the dead cells may mass together and adhere to the scalp. This is a bad situation because it provides such a perfect setting for the growth of bacteria. When this occurs treatment by a skin specialist is usually required.

The three factors governing dandruff are the amount of oil, rate of scaling, and infection. As you can readily see, it is important to catch dandruff in its earliest and simplest stage—dry dandruff.

In the past, many treatments have been used and many of them have been discarded. At best they only brought relief for very short periods. Sulphur was perhaps the most effective. It has strong anti-bacterial properties and controls the rate of shedding to some degree.

Naturally, shampoos are important in removing loose scales and oil and dirt; also some of the shampoos fight bacteria. Great strides have been made recently. There are products which control dry and oily dandruff, after several applications, for from four weeks to four months. You apply this before shampooing the hair.

Many simple defects of skin and scalp develop into more serious ones with neglect.

California Style Salad Dressing: I grew up in California where we serve our salad as the first course. My new acquaintances where I now live tell me this is never done, but I still think it is a pleasant custom. Am I wrong?

Louise Davis Answers:

No, indeed, you aren't wrong. I agree that it is a very pleasant custom and wish it were more prevalent. This California system has its excellent points, and can be a boon to hostesses, especially in a maidless home. I see no reason why easterners and middle westerners should be hide-bound by so-called traditions when there is no reason why it shouldn't be done. How hospitable and appetizing it looks to approach a dinner table and find a salad already at each place. And how bare it looks with nothing but the flat silver, glasses and butter plates, even though the ready-to-serve roast and hot vegetables may be there. Some hostesses eliminate soup and other appetizers, such as fruit cup or juice, even for company, so what could be nicer than a salad for a first course?

If the main course is in the kitchen, hot and ready to bring to the table, the hostess finds that excusing herself during the salad course can be simpler than at other times. You will notice in many restaurants where a salad is on the order, that it is brought to the table almost immediately, before the meat and vegetables are served. And you will notice that most people begin to eat it right away, thus whetting their appetites for what's to come, rather than sit and look at an empty table.

Rose-Gowned Attendants
At Sacred Heart Wedding

A trio of attendants in rose-colored gowns came down the aisle of Sacred Heart Church with Sylvia Gail Scharbach at her recent wedding to Allen Grant Morley. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Scharbach, 821 Ralph Street, and her groom is son of Mrs. A. Morley, 821 Princess Avenue. Gladioli, stocks and hydrangeas decorated the church for the ceremony conducted by Rev. Father J. Planeta. Organ music was played by Miss D. Gubbels.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a traditional gown of rich brocade satin, floor length, embroidered with seed pearls and mother-of-pearl sequins. A tiara of seed pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. As she left the church she was presented with a good luck horseshoe of white carnations by Mrs. J. Moody.

The gowns worn by the attendants, Mrs. Dolores Stuart, matron of honor, and Misses Della Scharbach and Frances Magee, bridesmaids, were ballerina length. They carried Esther Reid daisies. Best man was Wilfred Morley, and ushers were Wayne and Brian Scharbach.

A reception was held at Olde England Inn, where H. Scharbach proposed the toast to his niece.

For a honeymoon up-Island, the bride wore a beige suit with white accessories and orchid corsage. The couple will live at 4278 Glenford Avenue.

Darnell-Carlow Rites
On Saturday Evening

At a ceremony Saturday evening in St. Barnabas' Church, Beverly Alice Amelia Carlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Carlow, Maquinna Street, and Robert Conrad Darnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Paquin, Somerset Street, exchanged marriage vows.

Traditional organ music was played as the bride walked the aisle in a silver-white satin princess style gown. She wore white satin pumps, a crown headpiece with shoulder-length veil, and a small pearl choker necklace with button earrings. Her colonial bouquet was of white carnations and pink roses, with pink and white ribbons. The church was decorated in the same tones, with pink carnations and large green ferns, and white satin bows marking the pews.

Rev. Thomas Bailey officiated. Miss Frances Dallin, maid of honor, Miss Melvina Purser, junior bridesmaid, and flower girls Eleanor Darnell and Susan Blake, nieces of the groom, wore short apple green lace dresses in princess style, white feather headbands, and matching green lace gloves. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and green ribbons.

The bride's mother wore a princess style aqua lace gown with an aqua hat, and pink accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations and roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. A. E. Paquin, was in a rose lace sheath dress, pink gloves and hat, and patent shoes and purse. She also wore a pink carnation and rosebud corsage.

Doug Mills was best man, and Rick Darnell and Russell Coleman, brother and cousin of the groom, were ushers.

A three-tier wedding cake covered with pink ice roses and silver leaves and topped with white satin bell, centred the bride's table at a reception at the Golden Slipper ballroom. Uncle of the new Mrs. Robert Darnell, John D. Carlow, proposed the toast to the bride.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. M. I. McIlmoy, and Mr. and Mrs. D. McCulloch of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. L. Inwood, Edmonton, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Galloway, Winnipeg, Man., and Mrs. George Taylor, Santa Barbara, California.

The bride had a pink and white fleck sheath suit with maribou collar, and matching pink hat, gloves, shoes and purse for her travelling costume. She wore a corsage of white carnations and pink roses. After their honeymoon in San Francisco, the couple will reside in the Birchwood Apartments, Suite No. 5, 1334 Pandora Avenue, Victoria.

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal by-election will be held in the Ontario riding of Lanark Sept. 9, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today.

The by-election will fill a Commons vacancy created by the death June 16 of Dr. William Blair, who would have become the minister of health in the new Progressive government if he had lived.

Thugs Escape With $5,000

MONTREAL (CP)—Three armed men today escaped with about $5,000 in cash from the Ideal Dairy Company, police said.

Oil Well Fire Raging in Fifth Day

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—A natural gas well fire which claimed one life and injured two persons raged out of control Monday for the fifth day near this community about 350 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Crews, working around the clock since the fire started, have failed in their efforts so far to remove the debris and flood the blaze.

Liner Aground Off Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—The British liner Reina Del Pacifico ran aground on a coral reef three miles off Bermuda today.

As a falling tide stranded the 17,872-ton ship further, a Bermuda government tender started for the scene to stand by in case it became necessary to take off the 61 passengers.

De Valera Cracks Down on IRA

The government issued a proclamation authorizing the detention of anyone "who in the opinion of a minister" is engaged in activities likely to disturb the peace.

Hospital Asks Bennett for Help

PENTICTON (CP)—The medical staff of Penticton Hospital today appealed to the provincial government to send a senior official to "avert the calamity" of a threatened nurses' strike.

The doctors said in a telegram to Premier Bennett and Health Minister Eric Martin the government must accept full responsibility for any "untoward results" if the strike takes place. They protested lack of action on a telegram they sent June 18.

Douks to Study New Denver Issue

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Greater Vancouver Doukhobors have been delegated to make a fact-finding study of the detention of Sons of Freedom children at New Denver dormitory school.

William N. Papova of Burnaby, a civil engineer, and lawyer Peter S. Faminow of North Vancouver were chosen last week to head the Union of Doukhobors of Canada. Papova is chairman of the executive committee and Faminow is secretary-treasurer.

The organization represents independent doukhobors.

Fishermen's Strike
Hangs on Shoremen

The Fisheries Association of British Columbia announced Saturday night that the striking United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) has accepted new salmon prices for the 1957 season.

But an end to the west coast salmon fishermen's strike, which has been in effect since the season opened June 22, still depends on settlement of a shoreworkers' dispute.

The union leaders had recommended rejection of increased salmon prices sought by cannery operators but the membership voted to accept them.

Union officials could not be reached immediately for details of the voting.

Meanwhile, loggers and millworkers on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland are voting on settlement terms offered Friday morning by employers, barely in time to avert a strike by 34,000 men in the timber industry.

Results will not be complete for a week or 10 days, but there are indications that the rank and file of the International Woodworkers of America, bargaining agent for the timber workers, will approve 7½ per cent wage boost, modified holiday pay offered by operators.

Victoria district members voted mainly in the affirmative Sunday, according to Jack MacKenzie, local president. Results must go to union headquarters in Vancouver for tabulation and news release, he said, but he added that the settlement won the approval of a "large majority" here.

RONALD SHRIVE

Drowns
Near Sidney

A three-year-old Saanich child drowned Sunday evening at Canoe Cove in a tragic sequel to a family outing on the water.

Victim was Ronald Shrive, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shrive, 1266 Reynolds Road. According to Sidney RCMP, the child accompanied his mother to the family car on their return from a picnic trip aboard their boat, leaving Mr. Shrive at the boat.

It is believed he wandered back to the boat to see what his father was doing.

Malenkov
Tried Forgery
Official Says

(See also Page 3)

MOSCOW (AP)—Former premier Georgi Malenkov was accused today of trying to force a Communist party official to sign a forgery.

This charge came atop other accusations flung at Malenkov in the last two days by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and former president Nikolai Shvernik.

It was made by the man involved, a party official in Leningrad, scene of the notorious "Leningrad Case" of which Khrushchev has called Malenkov the chief organizer.

The alleged coercion attempt took place in Leningrad in 1949 and apparently was part of the case in which several top Communists were illegally executed.

Laurenty P. Beria and Victor assistants in the Soviet secret police, were subsequently shot for their part in framing the case.

I. N. Turvo charged in a Leningrad speech made public today that Malenkov "persistently endeavored to force me to sign a forgery."

When all Malenkov's efforts failed, Turvo said, "I was threatened and accused of every mortal sin."

DEATH TOLL 130
AS HEAT WAVE
SWEEP EUROPE

LONDON (AP)—A night of horror in a Venice old age home, in which 15 patients died, brought known heat wave deaths to 130 today.

In most European countries the death lists were still incomplete. But dozens more were believed to have perished in drowning accidents or other mishaps attributed to the heat.

Temperatures dropped a bit in northern Europe today but Italy continued to sizzle in the hottest weather there since the Second World War. In parts of the country the thermometer hit around 100 degrees.

At least 23 Italians were known to have died apart from the 15 old people in Venice—a total of 38. In the Milan industrial area, factories shut down at noon for four hours as an emergency measure.

20 DIE IN AUSTRIA

About 20 people died in Austria Sunday while bathing. Countless others collapsed in the fierce heat. In downtown Vienna a young woman, apparently heat-stricken, died on the street and was taken to an ambulance station.

Budapest was short of water. Officials warned that if water was not conserved compulsory orders would be introduced.

West Germany reported seven heat-stroke deaths and several drownings in the last few days. A severe thunderstorm ended the hot spell in Berlin but smashed windows and blew the roofs off houses.

Thunderstorms punctuated the heat wave in Britain, where at least five persons have died in the hot weather.

At Lulworth Cove, a south coast beauty spot, rains softened the cliff face and sent hundreds of tons of rock tumbling on a crowded beach. More than 100 holidaymakers were injured.

Rains also fell on Paris, where seven deaths from heat stroke and 18 drownings have been reported.

Plane Takes Off
Without Pilot,
Fells Mechanic

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP)—A Piper Tri-pacer aircraft ran over a mechanic, took off by itself and nosed down into a gravel cut at the municipal airport here Sunday night.

Mechanic Fred Hendren had been working on the craft, which belongs to William Johnson of Penticton, B.C. When he finished, Hendren thought he would test his workmanship.

He leaned on the propeller and the aircraft started. Before Hendren could climb in, the craft rolled forward, knocking him down and running over his leg. It continued down the runway, climbed a few feet into the air, stalled, and nosed into the gravel cut.

Hendren suffered a badly broken leg.

Russ Veto West
Plan to Suspend
Nuclear Tests

LONDON (UP)—Russia today rejected the new Western proposal for a 10-month suspension of nuclear tests linked to halting atomic and hydrogen bomb production.

It was the first big Soviet "no" to the new American disarmament plan now being debated at the five-power London disarmament conference.

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told the disarmament conference there was no point in linking the test suspensions with nuclear bomb production, a proposal which is one of the West's basic demands.

He reiterated Russia's demand for a two-to-three-year suspension without conditions.

He also rejected western proposals to set experts to work at once on details of an inspection system to enforce the suspension of tests.

Zorin's 90-minute speech followed a radio Moscow broadcast that warned the West against expecting concessions on disarmament as a result of the Kremlin shake-up last week.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd immediately termed Zorin's address "disappointing."

Fishboat Under Tow

TOFINO, B.C. (CP)—An American fishing boat with two men aboard was being towed to safety today by a Tofino lifeboat after it reported being in trouble 30 miles west of here. The 38-foot Patty Joe was being towed to Ucluelet, B.C., by the lifeboat Hillier Queen.

Sloan Suggested
As Bargaining
Board Chairman

By PETER MURRAY

A special meeting of the provincial cabinet was held this morning, hard on the heels of threat by provincial civil servants to walk off their jobs at 7 a.m. Friday if their demands for bargaining rights have not been met.

There was no hint what was discussed at the cabinet meeting, which lasted only five minutes.

"I have no comment to make this morning," Premier Bennett said on leaving the meeting.

Other ministers also were non-committal.

There was no indication that the government has decided to soften the firm stand it has taken against the civil servants' demands, despite the setting of a strike deadline.

The B.C. Government Employees' Association, representing 11,600 of the province's 14,000 civil servants, fixed the strike deadline at a 10-hour executive meeting in Vancouver Sunday.

It is believed the first time any government civil service has set a strike deadline.

The association suggested Chief Justice Gordon Sloan as the best person to head the board.

The government previously rejected the arbitration proposal, on the grounds that such a procedure would abrogate the rights of the legislature.

The association replied Sunday it feels the government would be "morally obliged" to accept the recommendations of the board, but could still submit them to the Legislature for approval.

Arbitration Now Main Issue

The dispute has boiled down now to one fundamental issue—arbitration.

The association says that the strike will be called off if the government agrees to the creation of a permanent impartial bargaining board.

It would let this board rule on the civil servants' present demand for a 13 per cent overall average wage increase.

The association has asked that the board be made up of one representative from government and one from the association, with a Supreme Court Justice as chairman.

In a telegram to Premier Bennett Sunday the association suggested Chief Justice Gordon Sloan as the best person to head the board.

The government previously rejected the arbitration proposal, on the grounds that such a procedure would abrogate the rights of the legislature.

Trawler in Trouble
Off Queen Charlottes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Search and rescue officials here said at noon the tug La Force was nearing the area where a 36-foot trawler was reported filling with water early today.

The Carol O. reported that she was in trouble in Queen Charlotte Sound, 250 miles northwest of here.

The ship's owner and the only man aboard, Tormod Ostby of Burnaby, reported at 5 a.m. that the wheelhouse of the boat had been swept away in a 55-knot wind and the engine room was half full of water.

No report had been received from the Carol O since that time.
